FIVE CENT FARE RULING REPORT BRINGS STORM

Prejudgment Hint Angers Lawyer.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A sensation concluded yesterday's session of the Illinois commerce commission in the carfare case.

Attorney James M. Sheehan had concluded the presentation of the case of the surface lines. William Quinlan and William Taber, for the street car men's union, read a statement to the effect that the plan of George W. Jackson is "not a practical proposition" and that "the lines cannot be successfully operated on it." Jackson is the pivot witness of the city administration.

Then came the turn of Chester E. Cleveland Sr., attorney for the city administration. He begged off presenting his rebuttal evidence last night and then asked when the commission will hear arguments.

Lindly Starts Argument.

"As soon as the case is finished," spoke up Cicero J. Lindly, vice chairman of the commission and a lawyer, Cleveland made no protest. He asked Sheehan how much time he wanted. Sheehan turned a deep red, tossed his glasses on the table, and replied: "In that case, I don't think I will take any time."

Then everybody recognized the torpedo approaching. Asked again, Sheehan repeated his remark and continued:

"The companies are here fighting for their lives. Of course, if it is a fact, as reported in an afternoon newspaper, that the commission has already made a decision for a five cent fare, there is no reason for my presenting an argument."

Intimates Short and Ugly.

"You know that isn't true," broke in Lindly.

"That is not becoming of you," interrupted Chairman Frank L. Smith. But Sheehan went on:

"I say that after four weeks of this case any lawyer knows (Lindly is a lawyer) that we have been compelled to work night and day, and the case a suggestion that we argue the case tomorrow or next day can be open to the interpretation only that our arguments will be of no importance in deciding this case."

"I meant nothing of that kind," asserted Lindly.

"I cannot see how the suggestion could mean anything else," went on Sheehan.

Regrets Voiced on Both Sides.

"I regret that such a story was printed," said Chairman Smith.

"I regret that the commission has not the power to summon in that paper," said Sheehan. "Next week we must be before the United States Supreme court in Washington and I think that the week afterwards would be a fair time to hear arguments unless we are permitted to submit printed briefs."

"Ten days ago I spoke of delay to you," said Chairman Smith. "Ten days ago this case was decided by the Tribune, today by the Journal."

"I would like that you (Sheehan) have delayed this case until you could get a Supreme court decision, or have been before the commission to obtain an advantage. I would be just as much justified as you in impugning the motives of this commission. It is not fitting that a lawyer of your standing should impugn the motives of members of this commission. I resent it. I have as much basis for my assumption as you have for yours."

Arguments Become Hectic.

"I would like the record to show that I have not seen anything," replied Sheehan, "up to this afternoon which indicated any unfairness by the commission. But when a member of this commission suggests that we argue the case tomorrow or next day, it is a fair interpretation that our arguments will not be of any benefit to the commission. I have noticed nothing until this suggestion came up before the rebuttal evidence was in."

"You cannot impugn the motives of this commission. I won't stand for it," said Smith.

"I reserve the right to express my thoughts and feelings," shot back Sheehan.

Friendly Feeling Lacking.

The commission adjourned, but there was not the usual friendly "good night" in the parting. Cleveland said before adjournment that he would not want to argue tomorrow, but said again that the car riders are losing $200 a day by the five cent fare.

When the newspaper article saying that the commission has prepared an order for a five cent fare first reached the commission room Chairman Smith

Piers, Trains, Lighters, Burn at Weehawken

New York, Nov. 4, 3 a. m.—[Special.]—Sweeping along the Weehawken waterfront for a half mile, fire burned five piers of the Erie railroad, destroyed a five story four warehouse, a train of thirty loaded freight cars, thirty barges, and at 2:30 o'clock this morning was not under control.

The loss, it is estimated, will reach $4,000,000 and perhaps may run higher.

The high wind carried clouds of sparks sailing across the river to drop into midtown Manhattan. Sparks fell into Times square and adjacent streets for a period, but not to the extent they did along Chelsea waterfront.

The fire was discovered at 11:40 o'clock on pier D, a 1,000 foot structure. The flames quickly burst through the roof of the pier and, leaping the wide berth, ignited the roof of pier C.

Sparks soon were carried to pier E and to pier A. The last pier to take fire, pier A, was under lease to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. There were several thousand barrels of crude oil stored on this pier.

Facing a steadily losing battle, the firemen soon had to tackle another job. In some manner the flames carried over a space of 300 feet to the five story warehouse of the International Milling company. It was jammed from top to bottom with flour awaiting shipment abroad. With a rush and roar the blaze went through the building. It was scarcely twenty minutes from the time the first flames shot out from the warehouse before it was a ruin.

Meanwhile out in the Erie yards efforts were being made to save the long trains of freight which were lying out there. Engines were hastily manned and most of the trains were got out safely.

MAN WHO GAVE MILLIONS HERE DIES IN EAST

Hobart Williams Made Gifts While He Lived.

With the death last night of Hobart Williams, aged resident of the little town of Cheshire, Conn., the last chapter in the unusual life of one of America's "most unusual" philanthropists was completed.

Throughout his life—he was born in Chicago in 1837—a man of retiring habits and unassuming personality, Hobart Williams lived without ostentation or mark of wealth. Yet by his death last night almost a half score of Illinois institutions came into full possession of nearly $4,000,000.

Made Many Gifts in 1916.

The bulk of them were made in 1916. In May of that year the then 70 year old bachelor journeyed from Cheshire, where he lived with a sister-in-law, to Chicago.

Without public announcement or even the issuance of an explanatory statement he established a trust fund of about $2,000,000 for the benefit of ten Illinois institutions, gave the Williams building on the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street and valued at an equal amount, to the University of Chicago, deeded a building worth $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A., and presented to St. Luke's hospital property valued at $250,000.

Wanted to Give While Living.

When newspaper reporters from all parts of the country visited Cheshire and inquired why he did it, his laconic reply was:

"I want people to have benefits of money while I live."

Mr. Williams was the son of Ely B. Williams, recorder of deeds for Cheshire and also recorder for the United States government land office here. He has no near relatives living.

During his life the university was to pay him an annuity of $60,000, although the income from the Williams building is much more than that amount.

HOMESICK? TELL IT TO AN M. D. AND GET WINE PRESCRIPTION

New York, Nov. 3.—[United News.]—A homesick Italian singer, playing a vaudeville date in New York, may be the man to release wine for the alleviation of every man or woman in America whose doctor will certify "That the patient is suffering from acute nostalgia and a quart of wine is recommended."

Lord Ain, recently imported from Rome to sing in four voices on Broadway, notified the management that unless he could obtain a wine ration without violating the law he was going to tear his contract into shreds and sail for home, where prohibition isn't.

The manager wired Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for advice and has just received from Roy A. Haynes, the federal prohibition director, a wire stating that Lord Ain was entitled to obtain two quarts of wine on his physician's prescription. No limit was set upon the number and frequency of the prescriptions.

The singer's physician diagnosed his ailment as "acute nostalgia," which means "homesickness," and Lord Ain is searching hopefully along Broadway for a druggist with a good collar, carrying a roll of bills in one hand and a sheet of prescriptions in the other.

STATE ACTS TO SPEED UP TRIAL OF GOV. SMALL

Will Transfer Record to Waukegan Monday

Gov. Small was "called" yesterday on his proposition that he wants an immediate trial. Cards were laid on the table by State's Attorney Mortimer of Sangamon county. Mr. Mortimer assured the governor that the prosecution in the criminal indictments against Gov. Small will be ready for action in Waukegan next Monday morning.

Mr. Mortimer made public at Springfield telegraphic and other correspondence between himself and Gov. Small's lawyers offering to be present in Waukegan this (Friday) morning to go through with the technical preliminaries.

Small's Counsel Out of Town.

The only answer to communications a week old, Mr. Mortimer shows, is that Charles C. La Forgee of Gov. Small's counsel has been "out of town," at Decatur, Mr. La Forgee's home.

Failing to get any response from the governor's lawyers, State's Attorney Mortimer announced that Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Free of Sangamon county will file the record of the charge of venue Monday morning in Waukegan. The next move legally then will be up to Gov. Small.

Trial May Begin Monday.

This action by State's Attorney Mortimer, resulting in his production of the proffers of immediate action that he has made to Gov. Small's lawyers, followed a statement issued by the governor charging that the prosecution and not the defense was responsible for delay in beginning operations in Waukegan.

Gov. Small in his statement suggested that he doesn't have to furnish an additional bond. This point was immediately waived by State's Attorney Mortimer in the perfection of the record.

With each side thus cleared for action, the situation is understood to be wide open for the beginning of the trial of the governor and of Mr. Curtis Monday at Waukegan.

FAMOUS WOMAN GOLFERS FILES DIVORCE LIBEL

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Dorothy I. Campbell Hurd, the former British, American and Canadian women's golf title holder, today filed a libel in divorce against her husband, Jack V. Hurd, millionaire and clubman of this city.

She is not seeking an absolute divorce, but separation. She has asked the court to allow her alimony during the trial of the divorce.

The couple were married in Hamilton, Ont., on Feb. 11, 1913, and became estranged in April last. According to friends of Mrs. Hurd, her wealthy husband has been parsimonious in his allowance to her and in order to make ends meet she had to write articles for golf magazines.

ERIN RADICALS PLOT REVOLT AS PEACE IS NEAR

Buy German Arms; Land Shipload.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—While the Sinn Fein, led by Eamon de Valera, was engaged in a peace conference with Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain and on the eve of President Harding's disarmament conference, a group of radical Irish leaders made a deal with the same German naval and military officers who engineered arms running during the great war and attempted to land Sir Roger Casement on Irish soil. The radical Irish leaders arranged for a great shipment of German arms and ammunition with which to start another rebellion.

A ship which flew the Dutch flag was engaged. It successfully landed a large cargo of munitions in Tralee bay a few days ago.

Germany Warned British.

These facts, which I learned today, bear out both Prime Minister Lloyd George's warnings of a second German-Irish compact and confirm the secret advice which the German government sent to the British government recently, warning of this adventure and absolving official Germany of any blame.

Although the greatest secrecy clothed the deal, I am able to state that the plot was hatched months ago. The Irish participants are not the Irish republic envoys, who are in Berlin, nor are they among those who have been Irish leaders for many years. The Irish participants compose a special commission representing a radical faction of Irish, who do not want any compromise peace, such as now seems assured for Ireland.

Arms Bought in Danzig.

These envoys after making full arrangements with former German naval and military officers who had had gun running experience went to Danzig, which the league of nations has declared a free state.

In Danzig there are enormous stores of rifles, grenades, cannon, and ammunition. The Irish radical leaders bought their supplies there.

ULSTER MAY JOIN

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Great Britain and the Sinn Fein have arrived at a substantial agreement as to the future government of Ireland but it is dependent on approval by Ulster. Both sides are now awaiting the arrival of Sir James Craig on Saturday. He will go into conference with Prime Minister Lloyd George on the new proposals.

Both the Sinn Feiners and the British are hopeful of his acceptance for he has already declared his wish for peace "at a fair price." The plan of settlement should be based on population. The British, however, are pledged not to take from Ulster without its consent any of the privileges granted under the act and the next step therefore is to gain Ulster's consent to give up its unfair advantage in the council.

Abandon Independence Claim.

In return for this concession the Sinn Fein is willing to abandon its claim for the independence of Ireland and to grant Ulster the widest measure of autonomy in the Irish state. If Ulster refuses, the prime minister is said to have declared that he would resign rather than to undertake the task of coercing the rest of Ireland after Ulster had blocked the success of a fair arrangement.

If Sir James Craig agrees to the settlement, the premier almost certainly will call for Washington in a week or two, leaving the conference to work out the details, which will be a task of months.

Release Sinn Fein Prisoners.

RELEASED, Nov. 3.—[By The Associated Press.]—The Sinn Feiners who have been under internment in the Ballykinnar camp have been unconditionally released.

The Ballykinnar internment camp is located on Dundrum bay, County Down, occupying the site used as a training camp for Ulster troops in the war.

A Dublin dispatch Wednesday night announced the liberation of ten prisoners in the Ballykinnar camp indicating that a general release of prisoners was not distant.

Harvey Says U. S. Policy Is Historic

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 3.—Referring to Lord Derby's recently expressed hope that the United States might join an alliance with Great Britain and France, Ambassador Harvey, speaking at the Liverpool chamber of commerce dinner tonight, said he felt impelled to say frankly that Lord Derby's hope must be regarded as an utter impossibility.

Since he has been in England, the ambassador said, it seems to have fallen to his unhappy lot to dispel illusions respecting the foreign policy of the United States. George Washington fixed the foreign policy of the United States when, as the nation's first President, he clearly and unequivocally adjured his fellow countrymen never, under any circumstances, to enter into a permanent alliance with any other power.

Ambassador Harvey said that the policy had been reaffirmed by nearly all of Washington's successors, and was reiterated with great positiveness in the latest campaign by our present President, and was confirmed by a majority of the people so great as to be beyond comparison.

"Am I doing more than stating a wholly obvious fact when I pronounce the entrance of the United States into any permanent alliance, however desirable that action may be, to be an utter impossibility," he added. "May it not be therefore the part of wisdom to avoid discussion, or even suggestion, of a proposal which, however praiseworthy it may be, could hardly serve any purpose other than to feed the enemies and distress the friends of both Great Britain and France who live in America."

SENATE KILLS SALES TAX FOR THIS SESSION

May Be Revived to Aid Soldier Bonus.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The Smoot sales tax was rejected by the senate tonight by a vote of 25 to 43.

The vote came on an amendment to the revenue bill providing for a 1 per cent tax on sales by manufacturers and producers, which would have produced enough revenue to make possible the repeal of all the miscellaneous taxes but without permitting any material changes in the individual income and corporation taxes as already approved by the senate.

Only Republicans voted for the proposal, while the Democrats solidly lined up against it. Seventeen Republicans voted with twenty-five Democrats in the negative. The twenty-five Republicans recorded in the affirmative represent a majority of the senators of that party who were present.

May Pass Next Congress.

A significant feature of the debate was the assertion by several Republicans opposing the sales tax that they might support it in the next session as a means of raising funds for the payment of a soldiers' bonus if other available sources of revenue are exhausted.

Following the adverse action Senator Smoot offered his alternative amendment providing for a general turnover tax of one-half of 1 per cent. Action on this amendment was deferred until tomorrow. Its rejection is expected by about the same vote as that on the manufacturers and producers' tax. The turnover tax would produce about $400,000,000 in revenue, as against $253,000,000 from the other.

Misunderstood by Many.

Senator McCormick of Illinois, in a speech against the sales tax, declared that he has received telegrams and letters favoring the sales tax which indicate to him that their senders were under a misapprehension as to the effect of the present proposal.

"It is important that it should be made clear that the Smoot amendment would bring in only $253,000,000 and that the senator from Utah himself contemplates no reduction in surtaxes on incomes by reason of this amendment," said Senator McCormick. "The great majority of telegrams received by senators in support of the proposition have been sent, I am sure, in the belief that it would make possible a marked reduction in surtaxes. Many persons have supposed that the amendment would raise $1,000,000,000."

Smoot Against Leniency

The chief speakers in the all day debate were Senator Smoot and Senator Leniency, also Republican, the latter leading the opposition.

Senator Smoot denounced his opponents for attempting to influence the senate against the sales tax. "It comes in bad grace from any member of the house of representatives to give notice that the senate cannot pass legislation in any form it sees fit," said Senator Smoot. "Every day a sales tax has grown more popular in the United States, not in any one section but from east to west and north to south. In my opinion at least three-fourths of the people are in favor of it."

"I want to assure every senator that I have studied this question from every possible point of view. There is no provision in this bill that cannot be administered and that will not provide relief to all consumers."

"I have no more question but that the sales tax will become part of the revenue laws of the country ultimately than that I live."

Differ as to Revenue.

In explaining his plan under which corporations which have made small profits, in the past would be subject only to a 10 per cent flat tax instead of the 15 per cent tax Senator Smoot said this was designed to take care of 169,000 corporations that did not pay excess profits taxes before the war.

Senator Smoot said that the complete revenue bill with his amendments would raise $3,421,343,000 for the fiscal year 1923. The revenue for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, he said, would be $4,320,593,000. These sums, he said, would be sufficient to take care of estimated expenditures.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina insisted that there would not be sufficient revenue under the Smoot amendment.

He quoted an estimate by the actuary of the treasury department. On the basis of Senator Smoot's own estimate of $253,000,000 from the 1 per cent manufacturers' and producers' tax, Senator Simmons said the figures indicated a net loss in revenue

LIGRENI FOUND SANE; MUST HANG NEXT WEDNESDAY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

Frank Ligreni's fight to escape the gallows for the murder of his wife failed last night. A jury in the court of Judge John J. Sullivan pronounced him sane, and he was sentenced to hang on next Wednesday morning, Nov. 9.

Ligreni's wife was a school teacher at Bartlett, Ill. Her earnings maintained a home at 515 West Division street, to which she came each Saturday and Sunday, and helped to pay for the education Ligreni was getting. Finally they quarreled and the wife stopped coming home.

Ligreni went to Bartlett, hoping to induce his wife to come back. She refused and he shot her to death and escaped. He was caught, tried, convicted, and sentenced to death.

His attorney, Samuel Leonard Golan, later filed a petition for a jury trial of Ligreni's sanity, declaring his client had become insane since his conviction. The case was heard by two juries, the first disagreeing.

St. Paul Road Awards $4,500,000 Car Order

An order for the construction of 2,500 new steel gondola cars, announced yesterday by H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, will furnish work for many idle car builders in the middle west. The order calls for an expenditure of $4,500,000, and is the largest contract for rolling stock to be made since the return of the railroads to private ownership. The cars are to be made at Michigan City, Ind., and Davenport, Ia.

Viscount Grey to Wed Widowed Peeress, Report

below the finance committee bill of $25,000,000.

Senator Smoot replied by stating that Senator Simmons was talking of calendar years, while his figures were based on fiscal years.

"People Against It"—Lenroot. Senator Lenroot took issue with Senator Smoot's contention that three-fourths of the people of the United States are in favor of the sales tax. "I venture to say that that statement cannot be substantiated," said Senator Lenroot. "I do not know one farmer's organization that has declared for a sales tax, and practically every farmers' organization has declared against a sales tax. I do not know of any labor organization that has declared for the sales tax. I know a substantial part of labor has declared against it."

"There are many conscientious men who favor the sales tax. But the propaganda for it comes from the most part from people who think by the sales tax they will escape taxes they are called upon to pay. "In my judgment a sales tax is justified only when we have reasonably exhausted all other sources of revenue. "If in this bill when it is finally enacted we have reasonably exhausted all sources of revenue then I will be willing to vote for a sales tax to pay for a soldiers' bonus. I predict that a soldiers' bonus bill will be passed during the next session of congress. "The man of small income pays under the sales tax a very much larger percentage of his income than a man of large income. "In the case of a rising market the sales tax can be passed on to the consumer. But in a falling market it cannot be passed on."

How They Voted. The Democrats voted solidly against the sales tax amendment. The roll call among the Republicans resulted as follows:

FOR AMENDMENT.
Barnes, Jones (Wash.), Polindexter, Cameron, Keyes, Shortridge, Egan, McNulty, Smoot, Ernst, Moses, Spencer, Fernald, New, Wadsworth, France, Newberry, Warren, Freilighay, Nicholson, Watson, Oddy, Weller—25.
Gooding, Phelps.

AGAINST AMENDMENT.
Dorah, McCumber, Stanfield, Capper, McNary, Sterling, Curtis, McCormick, Sutherland, Keaton, Nelson, Townsend, La Follette, Norbeck, Wilson—17.
Leahon, Fennell.

The sales tax amendment pressed by Senator Smoot was modified from his previous proposals by abandoning the proposal to retain the present 10 per cent flat tax on corporations' earnings.

Senator Smoot accepted the finance committee's 15 per cent flat tax already approved by the senate, but with a modification designed to prevent any increase in tax burden upon corporations which have not made large enough profits to be subject to the excess profits tax.

CROWDS THROG ART INSTITUTE ANNUAL EXHIBIT

American Genius Given Medals and Money.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT. With the eager enthusiasm of the largest audience an opening day has ever seen at an Art Institute exhibit, the thirty-fourth annual American paintings and sculpture exhibition was introduced to Chicago art lovers yesterday afternoon. The east wing, which is given over to the exhibit, was black with the multitudinous crowd that completely concealed the paintings except for furtive glimpses under an unconsciously raised hand bearing a tea cup to appreciative lips. But in spite of the people the pictures and sculpture bravely held their own. Landscapes, portraits, still life—everything in the way of painting that goes to make a complete exhibition is present in this one.

Awarding of Prizes. The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan gold medal, carrying with it the sum of $1,500, was awarded to "The Dancing Lesson" by Cecilia Beaux. Charles Grafty of Philadelphia won the Potter Palmer gold medal and $1,000 with his portrait bust of Frank Duveneck. The Mrs. Keith Spalding prize of $1,000 went to "Morning Light" by W. Elmer Schofield. The N. W. Harris silver medal and $500 was awarded George Bellows for his interesting portrait, the "Old Lady in Black."

The N. W. Harris bronze medal and $300 was won by Wellington J. Reynolds, a Chicago artist and one of the Tribune judges in the heavy contest held last spring, with his painting "Ave Maria."

Others in Honor List. Eugene Savage won the W. M. R. French memorial gold medal with his picture "Arbor Day." The Peabody prize of $300 went to "From the Attic Window" by Delia Waldo Howell. The Martin B. Cahn prize of $100 was awarded to "Late Afternoon" by Frank C. Peyraud.

AT TEA TABLES

Presiding at the tea tables were committees from the Antiquarian society, the Friends of American Art, the Fortnightly, the Municipal Art league, the Young Fortnightly, the Frigid club, the Chicago Woman's club, the Museum's Club of Women, the Tuesday Art and Travel club, and the Art Institute Alumni association. The Antiquarians' table was particularly attractive. It was ornamented with a grass green velvet centerpiece and an old gold urn filled with ferns and a few prince's feathers. Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson, Mrs. William R. Linn, Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., Mrs. Herman H. Kohlhaas, Mrs. Charles B. Pike, Mrs. John Borden, and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick were in charge of this table.

THE DANCING LESSON, a canvas by Cecilia Beaux, won the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan gold medal, carrying with it $1,500, at the thirty-fourth annual American painting and sculpture exhibition at the Art Institute, which opened yesterday.

TELLS BIG TIM'S JOY AT SUCCESS IN MAIL THEFT

Robbery Described in Detail by "Go-Between."

The government's case against "Big Tim" Murphy, labor leader and ex-legislator, for conspiracy with Vincent Cosmano and six other men in the $288,000 Dearborn station mail robbery last April was materially strengthened yesterday by witnesses in Judge Landis' court. Special United States Attorney John E. Northrup stated at the close of the afternoon session that there was no loophole by which Murphy and his fellow defendants could escape. The prosecution probably will close this week. Next week Murphy himself will take the stand.

That Murphy was an "easy mark" for some of his friends was shown by the testimony of George W. Hecker, a young, adventurous, athletic looking, glib tongued man.

Met Murphy in Jail. Hecker, who said he was the go-between for Murphy and Ralph Teter, the mail clerk, first met Murphy in the county jail a year ago last summer. Hecker had been picked up in Indianapolis by agents of Capt. Thomas I. Porter of the secret service on the suspicion that he was implicated in counterfeiting.

Hecker said he and Murphy became pals at once. Hecker, who admitted having fled from Fort Leavenworth, where he was sentenced for three years for the offense of two days' absence without leave from his barracks, in Birmingham, and who had roomed about the country on various jobs, talked to Murphy about a new scheme he was interested in—the Serve-U corporation of Indianapolis. He convinced Murphy it was a great scheme, and later, after both were out of jail, he came up from Indianapolis and got Murphy to invest $500 in the company.

Murphy and Hecker had many talks, and it was during one of these visits, Hecker said, that Murphy proposed the robbery and suggested that Teter be used to get the information as to big shipments.

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

March to Live in Italy Villa During Winter

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] ROME, Nov. 3.—Maj. Gen. Peyton G. March, chief of staff during the war, who resigned Nov. 1 from the United States army, will be in Rome tomorrow to take part unofficially in the ceremony for the burial of Italy's unknown soldier under the statue representing Rome in the colossal monument to Victor Emmanuel II.

Gen. March will spend the winter in Italy. He has leased a villa in Via Po, which is one of the most select Roman neighborhoods. He will make this villa his headquarters and will spend the next few months in visiting the most interesting places in Italy and possibly the African coast.

Hecker fitted in many places left blank in Teter's story. He told of going to Murphy's office three days after the robbery, April 8.

"I asked him where the money was. He said he had not taken it from the grocery store yet, but would get it that night and meet me at the New South-eastern. At 10 o'clock that night Murphy and another man drove up in a machine. Murphy handed me two packages."

"I got in the car with Murphy to get my grip at his house on Sheridan road. After we were in the house he said: 'Those poor eggs threw away $288,000 for a few bills.'"

"I guess this proves one thing: that I can get the mob to pull off the job and with Teter giving me the information on the delivery of the jack we ought to be able to pull off five or six others so fast the postoffice inspectors and the police will be running around in circles."

To the admiral's right sat George Bell Jr., to his left, next to him, was Admiral Hugh Rodd, the American navy, while at directly in front of him were generals, seven colonels, three, and colonels, all of the army, captain of the navy.

Admiral Wears Decoration. The admiral was in formal but across his left breast he wore a row of multicolored service ribbons diagonally across his shirt. He carried such of the Legion of Honor around his neck, he wore a decoration of the Order of the British Empire.

In his address he paid high tribute to the officers and men of the American navy, especially Admiral Rodman, who served under him in the American contingent grand fleet in the North sea. Admiral said he wished to emphasize the grand fleet did not win the war. He made no such boasts for it, but he did believe that the fleet made victory possible.

He spoke of the American navy, of which he was a guest last week of the disarmament conference he will attend in Washington.

"Disarm Meet of Great Port. "That conference," he said, "fraught with great things and things will surely come out of it impossible to think that the representatives of all the great countries are going to assemble and the various questions frankly and honestly will be unable to find a sure formula can be devised which will reduce the great burdens now lie upon the people and our countries to reestablish the tries of peace and the contentment mankind."

"For myself, I utterly disavow possible cause of difference between our two great countries. We think about it, it seems in all our instincts and all our are such as have bound and shackle us more closely together."

U. S. AND BRITAIN STAND TOGETHER, BEATTY ASSERTS

Admiral Sees 'Great Good' in Disarm Meet.

Surrounded by the leaders of the civil and commercial life of Chicago and by distinguished veterans of the world's war and facing a balcony crowded with society matrons and debutantes, Admiral Earl Beatty, first sea lord of the British admiralty, last night spoke of the fellowship which he said had for more than 100 years existed between the "world's two greatest nations, Great Britain and the United States."

For fellowship's sake, he added, these English speaking nations must keep together. If they do they have nothing to fear in the world, he declared.

The occasion was the dinner in his honor given by the Commercial club at the Drake hotel.

Sees Comrades in Arms.
"I feel that I am not among strangers here," the admiral said after he had been introduced by Samuel Insull, who is president of the club, "for on my right, on my left, and in front of me I see fighting men of the great nations. I am surrounded by them. They are comrades in arms."

To the admiral's right sat Maj. Gen. George Bell Jr., to his left, next to Mr. Insull, was Admiral Hugh Rodman of the American navy, while at a table directly in front of him were three generals, seven colonels, three lieutenants, all of the army, and a captain of the navy.

Admiral Wears Decorations.
The admiral was in formal dress, but across his left breast he wore six rows of multicolored service ribbons, diagonally across his shirt was the scarlet sash of the Legion of Honor, while around his neck he wore the decoration of the Order of the Garter.

In his address he paid high tribute to the officers and men of the British and American navies, especially to Admiral Rodman, who served under him in the American contingent of the grand fleet in the North sea.

The admiral said he wished to emphasize that the grand fleet did not win the war. He made no such boasts for it, he said, but he did believe that the work of the fleet made victory possible.

He spoke of the American Legion, of which he was a guest last week, and of the disarmament conference which he will attend in Washington.

"Disarm Meet of Great Portent."
"That conference," he said, "is fraught with great things and great things will surely come out of it. It is impossible to think that the representatives of all the great countries who are going to assemble and discuss the various questions frankly and honestly will be unable to find a solution. Surely a formula can be devised which will reduce the great burden which now lies upon the people and enable our countries to reestablish the industries of peace and the contentment of mankind."

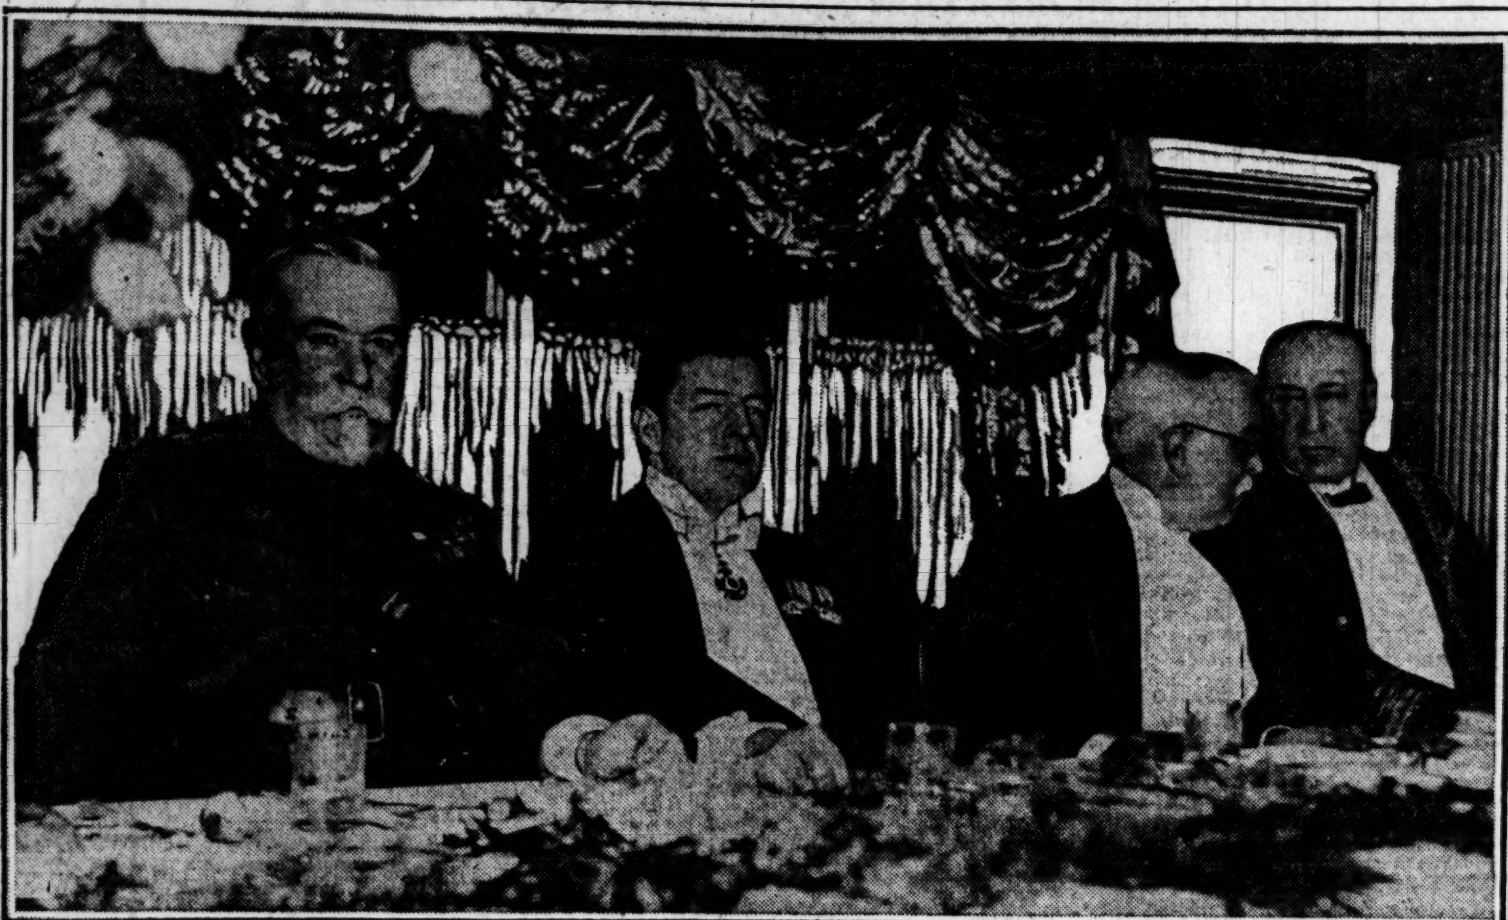

"For myself, I utterly discount any possible cause of difference between our two great countries. When we think about it, it seems incredible. All our instincts and all our interests are such as have bound and shall bind us more closely together."

"A First Class Fighting Man."
Admiral Beatty was introduced by Mr. Insull as a "first class fighting man, who comes naturally by his calling, as he was born in the Emerald Isle." He told of the deeds of the admiral, who entered the navy at 13 years of age and had worked himself up to the highest office. At 27 he was a commander, a captain at 29, and an admiral at 45. Britain's greatest naval commander in the world war, the hero of the battle of Jutland.

Following Admiral Beatty, Admiral Rodman told of his experiences when he served under the Britisher.

Admiral Beatty, who calls himself half-Chicagoan and a brother-in-law of the city because his wife is a daughter of the late Marshall Field and an aunt of Capt. Marshall Field, will leave for Washington today.

CHURCH CHAPEL IN HYDE PARK

Fire starting in the basement of the chapel of Hyde Park Congregational church, 56th street and Dorchester avenue, resisted the efforts of a score of fire companies for two hours last night and destroyed the building.

The basement was filled with bundles of church literature, which burned fiercely. Gas pipes were opened by the heat and added to the flames. A 4-11 alarm was sent in and all of the companies in the district responded. A dense pall of smoke covered everything for three or four blocks for hours. The loss to the church is estimated at $10,000, covered by insurance.

NAVY REDUCTION TO BE FIRST U. S. DISARM PROJECT

Program Is Taking Definite Shape.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The policies and program of the American delegation to the armament conference are beginning to take definite outline. If the expectations of official Washington are realized, the opening day of the conference will see a sequence of developments something like this:

The prompt presentation of a concrete American plan for far-reaching reduction of naval armament.

Consideration, with this, of such troublesome problems of the far east as may naturally project themselves into the picture.

Meantime, an effort by the United States to keep the negotiations in the open so that public opinion may exert its pressure toward practical accomplishment.

The salient features of the American naval armament proposal already have been established. Although details remain to be fixed, there is reason to believe the reductions suggested will be sweeping enough to convince the whole world that the United States meant business when it called the powers to the conference.

It would cause no surprise if the leading naval powers found it necessary to submit the plan of this government to long and careful study before they determine their course of action. Counter proposals may be made.

All evidence surrounding the conference of the American "big four" with their naval advisers have pointed to the inclusion of a set of maximum reduction figures in the plan to be laid on the table by this government.

The impression that such a method may not lead to an immediate agreement has received color from the apparent intention of some of the other powers to pursue a directly opposite course.

It is a high figure as the measure of the naval armament they consider requisite to their national safety.

Japan has already indicated that she would suggest the necessity of maintaining a navy equal to any which might enter her sphere in the far east.

A proportion which, naval experts say, is well in excess of her present power.

$1 WHEAT, ONCE A GOLDEN DREAM, NOW SAD REALITY

Wheat sold yesterday at 99 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade—the first time in five years that it has fallen below the $1 mark. The low price was on December, which closed at 99 1/2 cents. May dropped 3 cents, closing at $1.04.

The price was driven down in a hectic day of wild trading in the pit. Scores of brokers made vain efforts to hold the price above a dollar.

James A. Patten, grain king, who in other years made millions out of the market, was among those on the sidelines who watched the wheat price go down.

"I haven't got a nickel in the wheat market," Mr. Patten said as he watched the tape and saw the steady decline.

"Wheat won't stop at a dollar," he predicted. "It will go down much further."

"There isn't any consumptive demand to bolster up the market—nothing to hold up the price. European credit is shot—so poor that we cannot look for an export demand to hold up the market."

"Farmers once regarded dollar a bushel wheat as an ideal," Mr. Patten continued. "It was their battle cry, but now it doesn't pay the cost of growing."

CHEER KARL AS BILL TO DEPOSE HIM IS OFFERED

Hungary Begins Eight Days of Mourning.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—When Count Stefan Bethlen, the premier, introduced the bill in the national assembly calling for the dethroning of former King Karl and the ousting of the Hapsburg dynasty from Hungary there were cheers for Karl by the legitimists.

The bill protests against the interference of foreign powers in Hungary, provides for the removal of the Hapsburgs from power, and calls for the postponement for an indefinite period of the election of a new king of Hungary.

The bill will come up for debate in the assembly tomorrow. Count Albert Apponyi, former premier, is expected to enter a protest against it.

Eight days of mourning for Hungary because of the country's humiliation through the recent escape of Karl has been ordered by the minister of the interior. All theaters and other places of amusement are closed.

Club Woman Brands Cheap
Music a Menace.

Before a room of 500 Northwestern university co-eds, members of the Evanston Woman's club, Dean of Women Mary Ross Potter, and Policewoman Georgianna Juhl, Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer, chairman of the music committee of the General Federation of Women's clubs of America, assailed jazz music and its little playmate, the toddle.

"What we propose to do," began Mrs. Oberndorfer, "is to make good music popular, and popular music good."

Brands Popular Songs Menace.
"The majority of the popular songs have such vile and wicked words that they are not allowed to circulate through the mails, but must be sold in the cities where they are published," she went on.

"They are a menace. I had occasion to investigate what kind of songs wounded soldiers liked. I found that shell shocked boys recovered quickly if good music were played to them. On the other hand, jazz music had a tendency toward creating insanity."

"Manufacturers are waking up. Many of them are forbidding the playing of this vile stuff on the factory phonographs. They find that it breaks the efficiency of the workers. A workman told me that his daughter, a cigarmaker, was physically unable to go about her business after listening to jazz music. When rhythm and harmony are distorted, it unbalances the brain cells and the effect is as bad as intoxication."

Takes Wallop at Toddle.
Mrs. Oberndorfer took a few wallops at the toddle, by saying that never before have such outrageous dances been permitted. They are an influence for evil, she maintained.

Throughout her talk, Mrs. Oberndorfer illustrated by playing good and bad selections on a phonograph. The last selection she played was Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

"That was the first piece I ever danced to," she said, "and it's as good today as it ever was."

HEROES OF CROSS AND SWORD FOCH GUARD OF HONOR

At the side of Marshal Ferdinand Foch when he parades in Michigan avenue Sunday afternoon, leading a column of Knights of Columbus and other Catholic societies, will be Capt. William D. Meyer, who led Company F of the 23d infantry overseas. Capt. "Bill" wears on his belt the distinguished service cross and the croix de guerre, but he won't salute the marshal.

For Capt. Bill hasn't the right arm necessary for saluting. It's somewhere in France. And with him in the guard of honor accompanying the visitor will be Capt. Harris A. Darche, who, although with the 6th marines, carried a cross instead of a gun. He was their chaplain, gassed and wounded in action.

The main parade of the Foch party tomorrow, beginning at Roosevelt road on the return from the University of Chicago, will be as follows:
North in Michigan avenue to Randolph street, west to La Salle, south to Jackson, east to State, north to Washington, east to Michigan avenue, and north to the Chicago river.

U. S. GUAM BASE CHIEF SPUR TO JAP DEALS HERE

It Checks Power More than Corregidor.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.
(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)

TOKIO, Nov. 3.—After an impartial inquiry covering several months it seems possible clearly to state the secret motives and aims that animate the Japanese delegates at the Washington conference on armaments and the Pacific. There are two basic points and the object of Japan's delegation is to reconcile them:

1. Japan desires, sincerely and wholeheartedly, only the most cordial relations with the United States, because the United States is its best customer, and should the United States reject its silks, porcelains, and tea, and at the same time refuse to sell it in exchange raw cotton and iron and steel products its entire economic fabric would be seriously undermined.

2. Japan feels that it is, and should be by right rather than by might, mistress of the Orient. It is willing that Great Britain shall be mistress of the Atlantic and Indian oceans and that the United States shall dominate the eastern Pacific, but the shores washed by the downward flow of the Japan current and guarded by its string of islands it regards as being not only its natural sphere, but its destiny.

Willing to Concede.
To attain and to maintain these two points Japan is willing to make any reasonable concession.

There is a divided house in Japan. The people are ground to the earth by taxation due to the cost of armaments, which now require more than 50 per cent of the annual budget, and under the present naval program, with costs rising overnight in an ever increasing scale, the burden soon will become more than they can carry. At this moment the militarists are in control, as they have been ever since Japan became a world power, for they made it such. From all that can be judged of the situation after a thorough canvass, they are destined to retain control for some years to come, but growing weaker with each rise in the cost of upkeep until the people revolt.

Play U. S. as Demon.
The militarists continue to point to Japan's isolated position, to the great advances made by Japan by her three successful wars within a quarter of a century, and seek to retain their mastery by continually raising the bugaboo of an American conspiracy to drive Japan from the sea and from the continent of Asia and the Pacific islands, which they regard as its natural and God-given sphere.

In their position the militarists are backed by the great industries which profit by armament—huge concerns with centipede ramifications like Mitsubishi—and by a majority following among the Genro, or elder statesmen. Thus it is that while there are three parties in Japan the militarists control enough votes in the three parties to outweigh all opposition whenever the test comes.

Moving Toward Democracy.
But more and more Japan is moving toward a democracy. The deity-like worship of the emperor is waning; the people are more outspoken in their criticism of the rule by the Genro. The militarists see in these two signs the warning that they can retain their supremacy only by another successful

FOCUS OF JAPAN'S EYES

Japan is reported to be about to suggest that we guarantee not to fortify a naval base at Guam, which, they say, is more of a threat against them than war or the creation of a military establishment which will make war impossible. At the moment the people are gaining, and only the continued manufacture of tales of American hostility prevents the gathering of a cyclonic storm against the excessive cost of militarism.

The militarists see in the steadily increasing power of the United States in the Pacific what they honestly believe to be designs against not only Japan's trade in its natural sphere but also the destruction of her moral influence therein. The formation in 1919 of the Pacific fleet was one of the first real shocks, and in the early hours of the Harding administration, when it was proposed to return to the Mahan strategy and reunite the now gigantic navy into one unit, to be based in the Pacific, genuine alarm was felt.

But the bete noir of the Japanese militarists at the moment is Guam. They utterly disregard the fact that the last two sessions of congress refused any appropriations for the development of Guam.

It is the Japanese naval contention that the American navy must realize that it is impossible for the United States to guarantee the safety of its trade routes in the Asiatic Pacific without the development at Guam of a naval base sufficiently strong to house a fleet, and with the recent decision to send battleships to the Asiatic fleet the Japanese affect to foresee the development of Guam.

With the two brigadier generals now at Port McKinley and Camp Stoenburg the United States will have five general officers in the Philippines. See Guam as Greatest Menace.

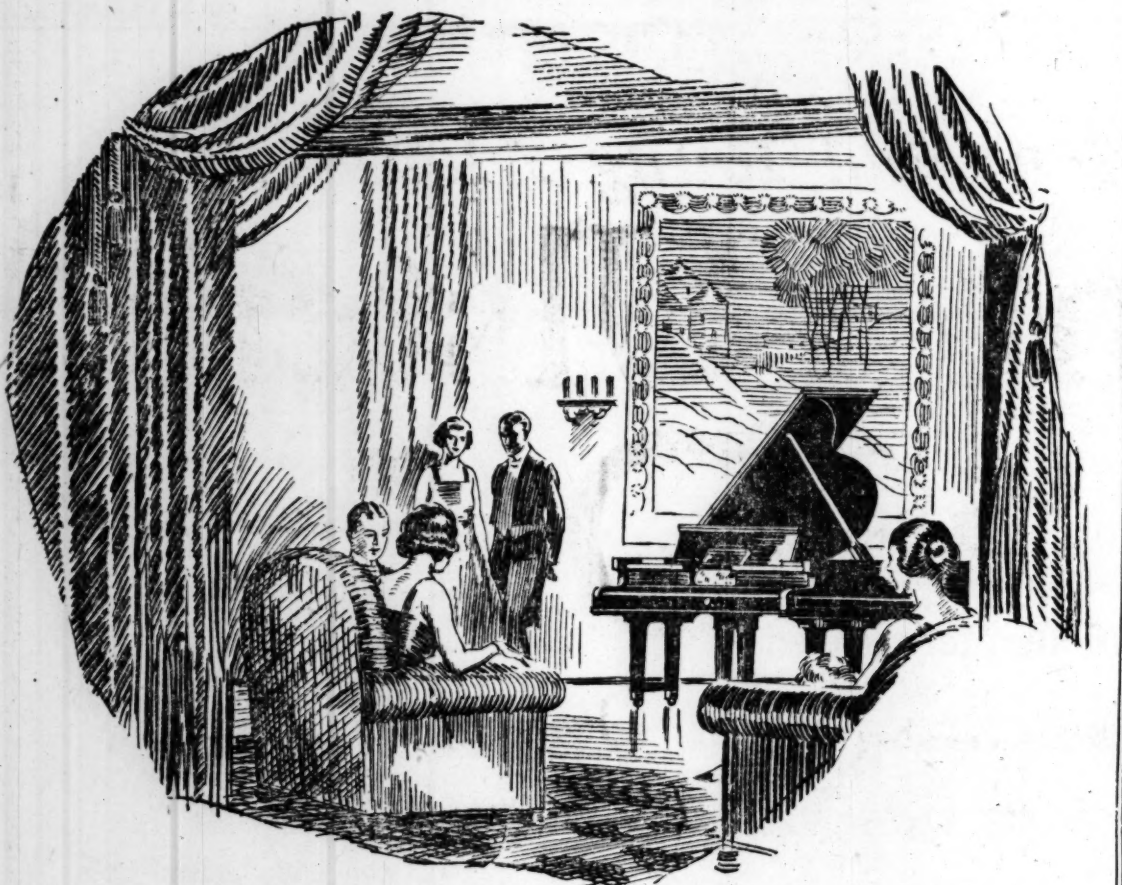

Discussing the matter therefore purely from the naval standpoint and laying aside for the moment the opposition of the Japanese people to any hostile movement by either country, it may be pointed out that the Japanese militarists see in the possible development of Guam the greatest menace which Japan could have. Therefore they are prepared to make any reasonable sacrifice at the Washington conference to prevent the making of Guam into a naval base.

For herein, still giving the strictly naval viewpoint, lies the hope of establishing Japan as the mistress of the Orient. It is a well known axiom that the limit of action of a modern battle fleet is 2,000 miles. If bases in the Pacific are denied the Americans, then Japan feels that with its present navy it will be on an equality with the superior American navy compelled to operate in Asiatic waters so many thousands of miles from a base, requiring the detachment of such a vast number of auxiliary craft to keep open the lines of communication.

OUSTED COUPLE HITS MORALS AT HOUSE OF DAVID

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 3.—Attacking the methods under which the House of David at Benton Harbor, Mich., are conducted, John W. Hannel and his wife, Mary, expelled as members of the cult last December, have brought suit to regain possession of the property they signed over to the society.

The charges, said to be based upon their experiences from 1906 until the date of their expulsion, include:

"That the colony is an unfit place to raise children; that the attitude of the colony's leaders toward the females in the colony is abnormal, immoral, and unchristian."

It is further charged that, wholesale marriages are made, but the persons so married are never permitted to live together; that the House of David is a fraud conducted under the cloak of religion; that members of the colony, after signing away their worldly possessions to the leaders, Benjamin and Mary, are underfed, underclothed, and overworked, and that no compensation for their manual service in the colony is allowed."

Former Policeman Shot; Assailant Is Captured

"Wally" Richards, 2444 West Van Buren street, sought by the police as the man who shot Frank Hahn, 4809 West Superior street, formerly a policeman, at Van Buren street and Campbell avenue, Wednesday night, was captured last night. He was taken to the Washington Boulevard hospital, where Hahn is recovering from a bullet wound in the abdomen, and identified by Hahn. Richards denied the charge.

AURORA BARBER'S WIFE LOSES HER ALIENATION SUIT

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edna Grice of Aurora, Ill., lost her suit tonight against Dr. Alice Barker Ellsworth of Kalamazoo, in which she sought $10,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Earl Grice, a barber. The jury reached a verdict of "no cause for action" at 8:50 o'clock tonight after deliberation that began at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Grice based her suit on letters addressed to "Dear Boy Earl" and signed "Alice."

HOLLAND PLANS NAVY DEFENSES IN EAST INDIES

THE HAGUE, Nov. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Netherlands government has introduced in the chamber of deputies proposals for a new $69,000,000 naval program, to be spread over twelve years. It seeks to establish naval bases in the Dutch East Indies and to supplement the existing fleet with submarines, torpedo boats, aircraft, and mines.

For the Dutch East Indies is proposed a naval base at Tanjung Priok, six miles northeast of Batavia, with auxiliary bases at Soerabaya, Java.

TO DEDICATE NEW BRIDGE FOR PERSHING

The picture shows what, it is claimed, will be Chicago's longest bridge, the proposed $1,000,000 structure to link the two sections of Pershing road, now separated by the drainage canal. The structure, it was announced yesterday, will be named in honor of Gen. John J. Pershing. It will be a Strauss double leaf trunnion bascule bridge and will cross the canal at Cicero avenue. It will have a total length of 3,000 feet.

CHICAGO'S NEW BRIDGES GIVEN HEROES' NAMES

Pershing and Dawes to Be Honored.

BY AL CHASE.

Gens. John J. Pershing and Charles G. Dawes will be notified today that Chicago is to bestow fresh honors on them.

The new $1,000,000 bridge to cross the drainage canal at Cicero avenue, a part of the Pershing road project, is to be named the Gen. Pershing bridge.

Gen. Dawes Honored.

The proposed $1,000,000 Crawford avenue bridge, also a part of the Pershing road lake to zoo project, will be christened the Gen. Dawes bridge.

This announcement was made yesterday by Charles G. Mollan, president of the Pershing Road association and originator of the idea to make 39th street into Pershing road, a magnificent drive from Lake Michigan to the Chicago Zoological gardens on the Des Plaines river.

The Pershing bridge will have a total length, including embankment approaches, of 3,000 feet. The bridge proper will be 2,000 feet. The drainage canal will be spanned by a Strauss double leaf trunnion bascule bridge measuring 224 feet between pivots. The roadway will be 38 feet wide, with two street car tracks and eight foot sidewalks on each side.

Bridge Receives U. S. Approval.

The bridge and approaches will extend from 38th street along Cicero avenue to 44th street, forming a short north and south section of Pershing road.

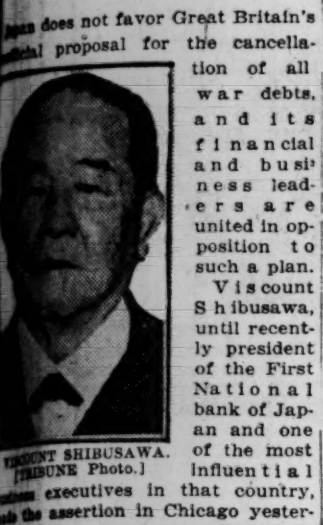

W. V. Judson, United States government engineer, on Monday placed his O. K. on the bridge project, announcing that he would favorably recommend it to Washington. It will connect two great districts of the city now separated by the canal and with no passenger bridges for several miles.

JAPAN'S 'JOHN D.' PROPOSES WIPING OUT WAR DEBTS

Nippon Will Demand Fair Play in Orient.

Viscount Shibusawa, president of the First National bank of Japan and one of the most influential executives in that country, made the assertion in Chicago yesterday.

Our financial leaders not only oppose the wiping out of international debts contracted during the war, but they will not even consider the proposal seriously enough to discuss it. We do not see how such a sweeping cancellation of international obligations will bring prosperity to the world.

Not Opposed to "Open Door." In the interview the viscount, called "John D. Rockefeller" of Japan, looks at length upon the Japanese attitude on American trade expansion in the orient. He placed this question at the head of international problems.

Whether the United States and Japan are involved in war or remain at peace, he said, on their attitude toward far eastern commerce.

"The Japanese business interests believe in the policy of the 'open door' in China," the viscount was asked.

"Yes," he said, "they do. They are opposed to competition for eastern trade. We have no desire to see the United States keep out of China or any of the oriental commercial fields. We ask is fair play.

"I do not mean that commercial war is not a delicate and dangerous game. I am convinced that should my country or yours attempt to gain an unfair amount of business, say China, the results would be of the worst character. The only road to mutual peace between the great commercial nations—Great Britain, the United States, and Japan—lies through an 'open door' for every one."

Frank on Immigration. Viscount Shibusawa was equally frank on the immigration question. "Japan does not wish to send its emigrants to any country where they are not wanted. The United States has shown that it does not want them and we have done the best we can to keep our people from coming to your country."

"The problem now is the attitude of the United States toward Japanese who entered the country when it was illegal to do so. Is the United States going to give these people a fair chance? That is what Japan is seeking and that is all."

The viscount, discussing the disarmament congress, said the general opinion in Japan was that the time is not ripe for complete disarmament, but that limitation of armaments is not only feasible but an economic necessity.

The viscount, together with Dr. J. Soyeda and Messrs. N. Zumoto and Z. Ishihara, who are with him, represents the Japanese American relations committee of Tokyo. Its membership comprises leading financiers, business men, and scholars of Japan.

Chicago bankers entertained the party at luncheon in the Blackstone hotel and last night they were the guests of the Japanese Y. M. C. A. They leave today for New York City.

Viscount Shibusawa has been hailed by Japanese journalists as an "uncommissioned envoy" to the United States. He denied last night, however, that his party would take any part in the disarmament conference.

BIG SHIP AFIRE; NO CREW SEEN; MAY BE FREIGHT

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 3.—A large vessel, the identity of which is unknown, is on fire 400 miles southeast of Halifax, according to a wireless message received today by the Canadian naval department from the British oil tanker Saxoleine, en route from Port Eads to Havre.

The message said: "S. S. Saxoleine, latitude 42.38 north, longitude 52.25 west, encircled vessel on fire. Burning fiercely. No sign of crew. Apparently a large vessel."

Local steamship lines have no advices of a large vessel in the vicinity reported. All vessels in the area mentioned which have not been heard from today are freighters.

LIBERTY BONDS SHOOT UPWARD; 4 3/4% ABOVE PAR

New York, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Heavy bank and United States treasury purchases of Liberty bonds caused a big jump in their prices to new high records for the year today on the New York exchange.

Gains of 22 to 76 cents per $100 bond were registered during the day. The leaders were the Victory loan 4 3/4%, which went above par to $100.40 for $100 bonds, for the first time this year, and almost the first time since issued. This high price today was only for one very small lot. The top price ever recorded was $100.48. The lowest price which they previously had reached was $94.70 per $100 bond. The average price had been around $98.

WIFE OF CO-OP CHIEFTAIN AGAIN FAILS TO APPEAR

Mrs. Harrison Parker did not appear as scheduled yesterday in the bankruptcy hearing before Referee Frank Wean on the petition of the Central Trust company to declare the Co-operative Society of America bankrupt.

Her attorneys said she had left town. She is declared to have suffered a nervous breakdown, which will prevent her appearance for some time.

Mrs. Parker is desired as a witness to tell what she knows of the operations of the society.

Referee Wean stated yesterday that "the impleadment of publicity" had been focused too glaringly upon the case. Therefore, he said, the date for the next session would not be made public.

EVANSTON AID IN TREASURY SEES TRADE REVIVAL

Business in the middle west is brightening, according to Edward Clifford, assistant secretary of the treasury, here between trains yesterday en route back to Washington from the American Legion convention at Kansas City.

Mr. Clifford, who was a resident of Evanston before going to Washington, said:

"On all hands are indications that business things are brightening up. Optimism is of the sound, conservative sort."

"In Washington the government is steadily rounding out the policy of economies in every direction. Since I have been in the treasury department the number of employees has been reduced 5,000. The government is solidly back of Gen. Dawes."

Presenting more Overcoat value than has been seen anywhere at this price in many seasons

HERE IS GOOD NEWS for the man with $50 to pay for an Overcoat this Winter.

Not alone in quality is the value unusual, for the styles, the woollens and the patterns are those that have been preferred this season.

For young men, there are the new Raglan shoulder styles with full belt, as well as regular shoulder models with full or half belt.

Three-quarter or full-length Coats, with big storm ulster collars.

For men, the more conservative models predominate in staid patterns and colorings; dignified yet smart.

The man or young man who has not selected his Winter Coat should make it a point to inspect this Store for Men November Special at once, because such pronounced values will not remain in stock any length of time.

This is the second of a series of extraordinary values during November. Values that will demonstrate the power and ability of this Store to provide worthy merchandise at radically lowered prices. Values so pronounced that men should supply their wants for months to come from the many different assortments to be presented.

DAN R. HANNA, SON OF FORMER SENATOR, DIES

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Dan R. Hanna, son of the late United States senator, died today at his home, 100 N. State St., Chicago.

Mr. Hanna was born on Dec. 26, 1866, in Cleveland, and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Marcus A. Hanna of Washington, D. C., and by two sisters, Mrs. McCormick of Chicago, and Mrs. Harry A. Parsons of Cleveland, and by eight children—Mark A. and Carl H. Hanna of Watertown, N. Y.; Dan R. Hanna Jr. of Cleveland, and the Misses Elizabeth, Natalie, Ruth, Charlotte, and Mary Hanna. All except Dan R. Hanna Jr. reached The Croft during the day.

DAN R. HANNA.

Mr. Hanna gave financial support to many charities and endowments, the most noted of which was his gift, in 1913, of a fund of $10,000 a year to establish and maintain a school of journalism in connection with the Western Reserve university.

His first wife was May Harrington, by whom he had three sons. She obtained a divorce from him twenty-three years ago, and later married Edmund K. Stallo.

The second Mrs. Hanna was Mrs. Walter de S. Maud, divorced wife of a British army captain, formerly Miss Daisy Gordon. She bore Mr. Hanna a daughter. In 1900 she obtained a divorce from him and married Frank D. Peltou.

Mr. Hanna next married Mrs. May Stuart Skelly in 1907 and they established a home at Ravenna, O., which was one of the residential show places of the state. Three daughters resulted from that marriage. Subsequently the third Mrs. Hanna obtained a divorce, the decree being granted on Oct. 14, 1918.

Mr. Hanna did not contest the case and married for the fourth time four months later.

TEST ON SANITY MAY DISCLOSE BURCH'S DEFENSE

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Arthur C. Burch may be put on the witness stand and made to tell his story. This in the event that the hearing on his sanity, scheduled for Monday morning, is held.

Judge Sidney N. Reeve, assigned to try Burch and Mrs. Madelyn Connor Obenchain on the charge of having slain J. Belton Kennedy, will decide whether there is doubt enough as to Burch's mental condition to have a jury pass on it.

If he believes Burch may be insane the judge will impanel a jury. The jury will decide the question. If the judge does not so believe he will impanel a jury to try Burch on the murder charge.

The district attorney could not put Burch on the stand at a murder trial, but he can do so, it is declared, if Burch is being tried on the charge of insanity.

May Go Before Grand Jury.

Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, counsel for Madelyn, offered today to allow his client to go before the grand jury and tell her story. He declared she had made a serious mistake in not so testifying before when given the opportunity. He asserted if she had testified she would not have been indicted.

Erbstein will appear before Judge Reeve tomorrow afternoon to continue his argument for the dismissal of the indictment against her. Before any move to reinstate her, as threatened by the prosecutor, her counsel has demanded that the grand jury hear her.

Erbstein plans, in the event his motion to dismiss the existing indictment is denied, to ask for bail for Mrs. Obenchain and the appointing of a physician to examine her physical condition.

Mrs. Obenchain Is Better.

Mrs. Obenchain, who fainted yesterday because of the intense heat in the jail, appeared well today. She saw newspaper men, but refused to discuss the case.

ERBSTEIN RECORD CLOSED.

Former State's Attorney Machay Hoyne and Assistant State's Attorney Powell of Los Angeles yesterday were refused permission to go over the state's attorney's files on the trial of Attorney Charles Erbstein on a charge of bribing a juror in the Lee O'Neill Brown case.

The two lawyers made their request of First Assistant State's Attorney Edward S. Day. They also asked the help of the office in checking the antecedents of Arthur Burch, alleged murderer of J. Belton Kennedy in Los Angeles, his sanity, and the degree of his intimacy with Madelyn Obenchain.

"We will very gladly give you every assistance we can in the Obenchain case," Mr. Day informed them, "but you cannot see the Erbstein case records."

MAN HURT BY ELEVATOR.

Leon Maszewski, a laborer, 607 Noble St., was probably fatally injured yesterday when he tried to operate an elevator, and fell. He was taken to the Parnassus hospital.

James Tenants for 'Bidding Up' Choice Flats.

Chicago tenants were told some unpleasant news yesterday by Judge Bernard P. Barasa of the Renters' court who in a talk at the luncheon of the Chicago Real Estate board declared he could see no big reduction in rents for some time nor any good sized building boom for some years. At the same time he placed a share of the blame for rent raising on the tenants themselves.

Barasa said: "The landlord is to blame in all cases," said Judge Barasa. "When every one wants to live in one section of the north side, instance, it's the tenant himself who bows the rent by bidding for his place, and not the owner."

Barasa urged that the Chicago Real Estate board take some action toward the establishment of a system whereby the main facts about all houses could be recorded in some sort of card index or system, to be available whenever rent rows developed. We should have some sort of legislation enacted to provide such a public register as a protection for both landlord and tenant," he said. "It would save litigation, save trouble for the landlord, and save expense and pain for the tenant."

At the same time he placed a share of the blame for rent raising on the tenants themselves.

Barasa said that the landlords were not to blame in all cases. "When every one wants to raise the rent, it's the tenant himself who is to blame," he said.

Barasa brought smiles to the faces of the real estate men when he declared he found no real estate men in court in connection with the number of owners.

"If real estate men had more control we wouldn't have as much trouble as now," he said.

Barasa stated that he believed from his 15 per cent to be a fair return on the estate or anything else.

Barasa urged that the Chicago Real Estate board take some action toward the establishment of a system whereby the main facts about all rents could be recorded in some sort of index or system, to be available whenever rent rows developed.

AUTO VICTIM

MISS MARION HARDY.

MISS MARION HARDY, 1825 North La Salle street, an actress, was severely injured early yesterday when the taxi in which she was riding collided with another cab at Chicago avenue and Clark street.

Miss Hardy was buried beneath the wreckage and suffered cuts about the head and body and possible internal injuries. She was taken to her home, where it was said her condition was serious. Daniel Durso, 1517 West Harrison street, one of the chauffeurs, was badly injured.

Plans for a Roosevelt memorial were given a big impetus yesterday when the plan committee of the Roosevelt Memorial association, meeting at the Art Institute, voted unanimously to establish the memorial at the foot of Roosevelt road, at the lake.

A subcommittee was appointed by Chairman John E. Wilder to make a study of plans for the memorial. The members of the subcommittee are: John G. Shedd, chairman; Charles L. Hutchinson, Frank G. Logan, Percy B. Eckhart, Howard Shaw, Ralph Clarkson, and E. H. Bennett.

HARDING CUTS 1922 EXPENSES BY $439,000,000

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The administration expects to effect an aggregate reduction in government expenditures for the fiscal year of 1922 of $439,000,000 instead of its previously estimated reduction of $350,000,000, President Harding informed congress in a letter to Speaker Gillett, made public today.

On the basis of the latest estimates received from the various departments and establishments, the president said, the total of expenditures for the next fiscal year now stands at $3,940,000,000, a reduction of $94,000,000 from the estimate of $4,034,000,000, submitted to congress on Aug. 16.

In fixing the figure at $4,034,000,000 as the estimated total expenditure for the fiscal year 1922, the President's letter said, "the expenditures under the supplemental and deficiency appropriations of $187,922,576.74 asked for herein were in the main taken into consideration."

"It is possible, however, now to state that the expected aggregate reduction in expenditures for the fiscal year 1922... basis is $439,000,000 instead of $350,000,000. Added to this the reduction of $170,000,000 provided for out of other public debt receipts... makes the expected aggregate reduction in expenditures for the current fiscal year $609,000,000 instead of $520,000,000."

With the expenditures under the supplemental and deficiency appropriation of $187,922,576.74... taken into consideration, the details of the estimated expenditures for 1922, as now received from the various departments and establishments, stands at $3,940,000,000, a reduction of $94,000,000 from the estimate of $4,034,000,000, submitted to congress on Aug. 16.

4 BIG BREWERIES ASK PERMITS FOR MEDICINAL BEER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(United Press.)—Applications of four of the largest brewing companies in the United States for permits to distribute medicinal beer to the drug stores of the country are before Commissioner Haynes today for action. Approval was expected shortly.

Applications of the Joseph Schlitz company of Milwaukee and Piel Brothers of New York are in final form, with bonds, inspections, and all other details completed. Applications of Feigenbaum of Newark, N. J., and of Lieberman Brothers of New York are not yet in final form. They will be completed during the day.

In all four cases issuance of permits has been recommended by the state directors. These brewers, it was understood, are ready to release large quantities of real beer the moment their permits are formally signed by the prohibition commissioner.

PLUMBERS' AID IN BUILDING TRADES CLEANUP SOUGHT

Employers who violate the Landis law trade wage award are to be vigorously as unions who refuse to abide by it by the citizens' cleanup committee which John W. Dines is to appoint tomorrow.

The word yesterday was that the instrument with which the committee expects to work is the rent payment which pays the cost of jurisdictional disputes, burdensome rules, and other economic waste in its rent when the first of the month rolls around.

Proponents of the movement declare it is a fight against the unions but move towards a general housecleaning in the building industry.

In Chicago the Building Trades council is upholding the Landis law and the effort will probably be to put the Landis law into general operation.

Plumbers Called "Klaxers."

The Chicago plumbers' union was named the "Ku Klux Klan of the pipe" in a letter from a Peoria plumber placed before the Dailey committee yesterday. It was read in connection with the examination of William Curran, business agent of the plumbers' union, who was asked to explain why he is backing the proposed ordinance to compel the use of iron instead of tile drain pipe in buildings. Curran said iron pipe is more sanitary and not much more costly.

"I understand," said Senator Dailey.

SISTER SEARCHING FOR HER BROTHER, MISSING 2 WEEKS

Harry Dines, 124 South Honore street, has been missing from his home for two weeks, and in her search for him a sister, Mrs. Emily Paige, has appealed to THE TRIBUNE for aid.

Dines, who has been out of work for months, was in search of a position when he disappeared. Mrs. Paige fears he has met with some serious mishap. He has dark hair and brown eyes.

HARRY DINES.

"that this ordinance is being fostered by the manufacturers of iron pipe through the plumbers' union. About 85 per cent of the drain pipe now in Chicago buildings is tile. The substitution of iron drains would open a profitable selling field."

Wood Industries "Open Shop."

An announcement that they are running full tilt on an "open shop" basis was made last night by the Chicago Association of Wood Industries, with a membership of twelve companies, mainly in the interior woodwork and cabinet industries. The organization declares it will have no future dealings with the Carpenters' District Council. Most of the plants have been open shop since July.

The hearing before Judge Landis of six crafts who ask a rehearing on the basis of restoring old differentials was postponed until Monday.

DOMINIONS TO PASS ON LIBERTY FOR EGYPTIANS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Prime Minister Lloyd George is now busy putting the finishing touches to the plan for the proposed settlement of the Egyptian question, which is curiously like the problem of Ireland. The proposed settlement provides for the independence of Egypt, the British reserving the right to keep troops at the Suez canal and at strategic points. The British dominions insist upon having a voice in the settlement of Egypt, particularly India, Australia, and New Zealand. The dominions have two claims. The campaign which freed Egypt from Turkey, making the present settlement possible, was fought by Indian and Anzac troops, and also the canal is the principal link in their line of communication with the mother country.

The scheme, after consideration and approval by the cabinet, must be approved by the dominions, after which it will be put up to Adly Pasha, the chief of the Egyptian delegation here.

MUSICIANS' UNION VOTES TO APPOINT NOT ELECT, AGENT

The Chicago Federation of Musicians yesterday voted down a resolution advocating making the position of business agent an elective one and directing the job be placed on the ballot when officers are elected later this month.

Until recently the union had no business agent. When one was appointed Ralph O'Hara was named. He tried to have adopted a resolution paying him by the day, but failed.

Continuing with New Shipments Just Arrived the Sale of Misses' Frocks, $25

Judged by fashion or by quality, each frock in this sale is a remarkable value. That they are entirely new further emphasizes the extremely low pricing. For they are the latest expression of the successful fashions of the season. And, to the simplest, have the distinction which only careful workmanship and excellent materials can give. Three representative styles are sketched.

In the Favored Materials—

Velveteen, Poret twill, tricotine, crepe, duvet de laine; with braiding, hand-embroidery, beading, metal belts—the new sleeve, the desired neckline.

In Every Daytime Fashion—

Coat frocks, well tailored; straight-line frocks and flaring frocks. Frocks of two fabrics cleverly combined. Frocks with flowing panels.

This Sale, Just at the Height of the Season, Is of Importance to All Young Women Concerned with Smart Winter Outfitting.

Unusually Wide Variety in Furs and Styles in Smart Fur Coats for Schoolgirls

Coats of Muskrat, Squirrel, Raccoon, and Opossum

The schoolgirl's fur coat must be of jaunty, youthful mode, with practical features which must in no way interfere with smartness.

So the harder pelts, the soft, youthful tones, and swinging "sports" lines are chosen for girls' fur coats here. Excellent values they are, too.

Coats of Raccoon, Priced $225 Unusually Rich Dark Shadings

The fine quality is evident at once in the exceedingly good appearance of this coat. It has full, generous flare, attractive lining, careful workmanship. Sketched at left. Other raccoon coats, according to style, $250, $260.

Girls' Coats of Muskrat, Specially Priced, $135 to $185

These coats are in the style sketched at the right. They are the sort of coats which give splendid service—well made of skins skillfully selected, carefully matched. Sizes 6 to 16 years. Priced according to size.

STADIUM DRIVE NEARS $200,000 MARK IN COUNTY

Pledges from the Chicago alumni and friends of the University of Illinois for the memorial stadium are rapidly approaching the $200,000 mark. At the secondary luncheon of the Cook county stadium committee at the Morrison hotel the announcement was made that 170 individual pledges had been made, averaging more than $200 each.

A $1,000 subscription came from the Plamondon heirs for the erection of a column in the stadium, to be dedicated to the "unknown soldier" in honor of Charles A. and Mary M. Plamondon, whose lives were sacrificed in the sinking of the Lusitania.

P. T. Tarnowski also contributed $1,000 to be used as a memorial in honor of his brother, Alexander S. Tarnowski, who was killed overseas.

HANFORD MACNIDER.
(Majest Photo.)

ACCORDING to Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Ia., newly elected commander of the American Legion, represents "the epitome of the highest type of the American soldier from civilian life."

Gen. Foreman, who reached Chicago yesterday from the Legion convention at Kansas City, paid high compliments to the ex-service men's chieftain, calling special attention to the fact that MacNider enlisted in the army as a private and advanced through the ranks until he was discharged as a lieutenant colonel.

CHICAGO ELKS TO PLANT TREES ARMISTICE DAY

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

Chicago Elks are planning a big celebration for Armistice day, when memory trees will be planted for all the Elks who sacrificed their lives in the great war. The Chicago Elks band will make its first appearance and a choir of twenty-five voices will furnish music. The trees will be planted in the morning and the program will be held at the clubhouse in the evening, under the direction of Col. Earl Thornton and his committee. Brig. Gen. Abel Davis and Exalted Ruler William J. Sinek will speak.

The committee in charge of the day's events are: Col. Thornton, William Chones, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Col. John J. Garrity, Col. Henry J. Allen, Col. John V. Clinnin, Col. Walter Fisher, Col. William H. Beckman, Col. C. P. Stringfield, M. D., Col. Percy B. Coffin, Lieut. Col. Nelson Morris, Maj. Phillip R. Crippen, Capt. Marshall Field, Capt. Robert Harris, and Dr. S. J. Ugiow.

Harry L. Flentye of Wilmette post of the American Legion, No. 46, announces that Wilmette will plant fourteen big trees to the memory of fourteen men from that suburb who died in the war. The roads are so well supplied with trees in this locality that the citizens have decided to place the memory trees in the new Wilmette park and place a marker there. Nov. 13 has been chosen for the planting and the Armistice day celebration will be held then instead of on Nov. 11. Ames, Ia., is hurrying its planting arrangements so that it may get some of its hero trees on the roads by Nov. 11. Harvey, Ia., has planted a memory grove through the schools, and the Kiwanis club of Clinton, Ia., is placing a mile of memory trees along the Lincoln highway. Kiwanians throughout the country have, whenever it could be practical to do so, chosen elms for its memory roads.

MINERS REGARD CHECK-OFF PLAN AS UNESSENTIAL

Stand of Illinois Leaders May Avert Strike.

While conditions were less reassuring in other states, notably Indiana, predictions that Illinois coal mine workers will not join in any general strike as a protest against the proposal to abandon the check-off system under which union dues have been deducted from miners' pay gained weight through yesterday's developments. And reports favorable to peace came from Ohio also.

Action in Illinois is regarded important for the influence it will have on the entire situation.

"Less than 3,000 miners of this state have quit work, and all of them acted without orders but with good intent," said Walter Nesbit, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Miners' union, last night. "They had not received the message of Frank Farrington, our state president, urging them to remain at work. They will all be back on the job tomorrow."

Check-off Not Essential.

Freeman Thompson, president of the Springfield district, issued a statement supporting the declaration of President Farrington that there is no occasion for a strike.

"Call the bluff of the operators and Judge Anderson (the Indianapolis judge who issued the injunction against the check-off system) and show them we can endure without the thing they have been holding as a club over our heads," said Thompson. "We don't need the check-off system. Miners are 100 per cent true to their union and will walk up and pay their dues without any collection system."

Coal prices in Chicago already have reflected the influence of the strike threat. This, one large dealer said, is due to heavy buying by industrial concerns guarding against a shortage. Screenings that one week ago sold for $1 a ton brought as much as $2.50.

It is estimated there are enough cars of coal on tracks here to keep up normal supply for at least three weeks. Dr. P. C. Honnold, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, said there were unsold cars on track at virtually every mine in the state.

Indiana Operators Quit Check Off.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 3.—Indiana coal operators, meeting here tonight to consider the situation brought about by the injunction granted in the court of Judge A. B. Anderson at Indianapolis and the strike of miners which followed it, voted unanimously to sustain their attorneys who had pledged obedience to the injunction and also voted unanimously that they would not join the United Mine Workers of America in an appeal. It was announced that they could obey the injunction and at the same time carry out every contract provision with the mine workers, inasmuch as the contract of the Indiana district made last year provided that the operators would not oppose the payment of the "check off" unless it was prohibited by the courts.

"Our district is the only one that had this provision in its contract," they said.

ELLIS ISLAND ABUSES SCORED IN PARLIAMENT

LONDON, Nov. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—Alleged hardships suffered by British subjects at Ellis Island, New York, came up for brief consideration in the house of commons today.

Cecil Harmsworth, undersecretary of foreign affairs, was asked whether representations had been made to Washington on this score. He replied that, judging by the distressing accounts received of the treatment of British subjects at Ellis Island and the conditions under which they were compelled to live, the strongest complaints would be justified.

"Repeated representations made to the United States government," declared the undersecretary, "have, I regret to say, had no tangible result, but further negotiations are proceeding at the present moment, which I hope may lead to some permanent improvement."

"GOOD things come slowly" or "good things come hard" isn't true of pies. The best of pies—thick, mellow, savory, mince pies—are by far the easiest to make.

You simply roll the crust and fill with Atmore's Mince Meat. There's not a bit of mixing needed. Atmore's is ready for the pie: "old-time flavor," hand picked fruits; inspected beef; Oriental spices; raisins that grow thick and plummy in baking; selected suet; and everything.

Just try baking an Atmore Mince Pie—you will be delighted with its economy of work and money, and your family will be delighted with its flavor and aroma.

and Light

THE DRAKE is easy of access from all parts of the loop district

THERE are no dark court rooms at THE DRAKE. Every room looks out on great open spaces. From two whole sides of the building you see blue Lake Michigan rippling in the sunshine. To the west is one of the world's most famous boulevards, to the south the city.

For charm of location THE DRAKE has no rival here or abroad—within easy access of theatres, shops, and humming office buildings, yet out in the air and the open, away from the noise and confusion of the loop.

Popular priced meals in the Italian Restaurant—luncheon 75c, dinner $1.50. Concert dinner in the main dining room overlooking the lake $2.50.

Dancing in the Grill Room every evening except Sunday, at ten o'clock; Tea Dances in the French Room Saturdays from four until six. Afternoon Tea Musicals in the Avenue of Palms daily.

Single rooms as low as $4, double $6. Suites and rooms may be had at special rates on short or long time basis. Apartment suites are 50% rented. For reservations, telephone Superior 2200.

WATSON DEFIES SPECIAL INQUIRY ON HIS CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The controversy over the alleged execution of American soldiers without trial in France continued to rage in the senate today.

Senator Tom Watson of Georgia rose to a question of personal privilege and submitted letters and telegrams from ex-service men offering to furnish proof of his charges.

Republican and Democratic leaders had a conference with Senator Watson and attempted to reach an agreement to abandon the inquiry of Watson's allegations by special committee of the senate.

Senator Watson previously had refused to recognize the authority of the committee to summon him as a witness. He said he would present his evidence on the floor of the senate.

Today's fare-up started when Senator Watson presented clippings from the Pasado (N. J.) Journal of July 29, 1918, purporting to give statements of comrades of Private Frank Frye of the 309th Infantry, D. 309th Infantry.

to the effect that Frye was bayoneted to death for refusing to carry a gun. According to the Pasado Journal's story, Frye, a conscientious objector, was bayoneted through the heart by a private soldier, detailed to guard him. Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey told the senate he had investigated the statement and found that the soldier who bayoneted Frye was tried twice by court martial and acquitted.

"Of course," commented Senator Watson, "the life of a private soldier in France is nothing here in comparison with the millions of Henry Ford, who did not send his son to fight, of John D. Rockefeller, who did not send his son to fight."

Referring to the photograph of the gallows at Givres, which he exhibited during Tuesday's debate, Senator Watson said:

"That picture was photographed by a Georgia soldier, who is now hastening to Washington." He added that he would appoint the soldier as one of his secretaries "so that he can stand by my side here in the senate and back up my statements."

Senator Watson exhibited two illustrations from the Pasado Daily Herald, one of an American soldier being prepared for execution and the other of a man actually dying on the gallows. A Senator Edge of New Jersey stated that one of the men was a Negro "who killed a Frenchman when the latter intervened in an attack by the Negro upon a child," and the other that of another soldier whose criminality as a traitor was proven by a French girl, who afterwards died.

SENATE PASSES $75,000,000 BILL FOR GOOD ROADS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The senate today adopted the conference report on the good roads bill. The measure now goes to the President.

The bill carries an appropriation of $75,000,000 to extend federal aid to the states in the building of good roads. Of this amount $25,000,000 is made immediately available and $50,000,000 will be available on Jan. 1, 1922.

An additional $15,000,000 is appropriated for the building of forest roads and trails.

Illinois will get $3,246,000; Iowa, $2,103,000; Indiana, $1,959,000; Michigan, $2,266,000; Wisconsin, $1,895,000; and Minnesota, $2,123,000.

Provision is made that no state may receive its allotment until it gives adequate assurance that the roads will be properly maintained.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 3.—John E. Win-stanley, local organizer for the American Federation of Labor, is in a hospital at Marianna, Fla., suffering from injuries received when he was tied to a tree and flogged at Sherman, Fla., according to word received here today.

OFFICER DENIES MARINES KILLED HAITIAN NATIVES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Charges that Haitian natives were killed or inhumanely treated by gendarmes, acting on orders of American marine officers, were challenged today before the senate investigating committee by Lieut. Col. Alexander S. Williams, who acted as commander of the gendarmes between August, 1916, and July, 1919.

"From my knowledge of the personnel of the American officers, I would state they were inspired by a very high sense of duty, anxious to do everything possible to advance the interests of the Haitians and reflect credit on the marine corps," Col. Williams asserted. "They all showed the greatest friendship for the natives."

"I have no doubt whatever that many natives were killed by the native gendarmes. I had occasion to try a number of them on such charges and turn some over for trial by the civil courts."

Col. Williams declared an intimate acquaintance with Maj. Clark H. Wells, marine corps, had convinced him that officer was not guilty of encouraging or permitting the killing of prisoners as had been charged.

NOISE LEADS TO STILL.
Two postmen heard much noise last night at 914 E. Dobson avenue. They rushed inside and found Steve Calabrese beating his wife. They also found a gallon of "white mule" and a moonshine still.

NEW YORK MAY RUN ITS OWN MILK WAGONS

New York, Nov. 3.—Mayor Hylan and Health Commissioner Copeland at a conference today concerning the strike of 10,000 milk wagon drivers considered the advisability of placing all private milk distributing and pasteurizing plants under control of the city and operating them for the benefit of the public.

The commissioner was asked to submit a plan for such action as soon as practicable and present it to the board of estimate for consideration.

Bird S. Coler, commissioner of public welfare, announced that not one hospital in the city had had milk delivered to it during the strike and that his department had been forced to go to the milk stations for milk for infant asylums and hospitals with nursing babies.

Led by Robert L. Bacon of Westbury, son of Robert Bacon, former ambassador to France, the owners of several large estates in Nassau county are banding together to supply milk to children affected by the strike of drivers. Mr. Bacon is supplying twenty families from his own herds.

May Arbitrate at Cleveland.
Cleveland, O., Nov. 3.—Tonight the officials of the Telling-Belle Vernon Milk company agreed to arbitrate the wage question which caused 800 milk wagon drivers to strike yesterday.

The Billboard

is, as Mr. Bacon says, a friend indeed to the theatrical and amusement world. It has fought the battles of the actor, stood for his rights, helped him win his great victories. That's one reason why The Billboard enjoys such a tremendous popularity in the amusement world. It is read by practically everybody of the stage, movies, vaudeville, burlesque, circus, outdoor shows, etc. If you want to have the friendship and confidence of the show folks, appeal to them through The Billboard.

FUTURE EDITORS ARE TOLD HOW TO WRITE NEWS

It doesn't make much difference what you do; it's the way you do it that counts.

AUGUSTUS SAINT-GAUDENS.
(O. K.—Henry J. Smith.)

BY EYE WITNESS.

Henry J. Smith is news editor of the Chicago Daily News and superintends its editions between 6 a. m. and 5 p. m. every day except Sunday.

Thus he knows both the public that reads and the "home editor" who writes the news.

And he, knowing the public so well, said to the young people of the Joseph Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University last night:

"Don't undervalue the newspaper reader. He will thank you for as good writing as you can give him. Do you say, 'I can reach a better public, a broader, more intelligent public through the magazine than the newspaper?' No! The newspaper reading public is as intelligent as any. None can be better. The circulation of a large newspaper comprises almost every type of human being known. There is none more stimulating.

"You want the glory of appearing in the magazines, do you? Well, they use handsomer type and prettier paper than the newspaper does, but somehow one can't tell the difference when the Salvation Army collector carries them out of the basement.

"You would rather work in fiction? Be assured there is nothing deadlier than a dead novel. Your grief in seeing your first page newspaper article of yesterday decking the pantry shelves today cannot be sharper than in finding your last year's novel slipping, slipping, slipping from 'Popular Fiction, 42' to 'Your choice, 75 cents,' and then to 'All books 30 cents,' and so to the junkman."

Sweetest Words Ever Heard.

In fine, "Harry" Smith minded him of the business man going home on the "L" and saying to his neighbor, "Say, did you read this story in the —?"

Not such important news, perhaps, but it kind of gets me. It's the way it's written."

Such a chance remark—sweetest music to a news executive's or the news writer's ears—gave Mr. Smith the title for his lecture to the Medillans.

"It's the way it's written," was his text, his introduction, his conclusion, and his in-between, and the moral he drove home was, don't underestimate the newspaper reader; don't underestimate this craft of writing; don't take words for granted or accept the first one that comes. Study words, accumulate them, respect them, for—

"It's the way it's written that counts," just as the sublime Saint-Gaudens said of his craft.

When Sentiment Enters.

Employers, Mr. Smith said, are not unkindful of "the way it's written," and in that connection, though without naming a name, he gave them a fresh and heart-warming glimpse of an editor who is often thought of as one of the most austere of the great chieftains of journalism. He may be, but Mr. Smith says this happens in the office of the Daily News:

"I have in mind one editor and publisher, well advanced in years, who for nearly half a century has succeeded, despite heavy business anxieties, in keeping undiminished his appreciation of good writing and his interest in clever young people. When he stops the author of a good story in the hall and says, 'That was well done,' the youngster goes away walking on air; and when he writes 'Excellent' on a clipping there is general excitement."

The Invitation to Mediocrity.

With his eager audience Mr. Smith left these outstanding sentences:

"To do any good writing you have to care about it tremendously. That is what leading opera singers, painters, golf players, and poker players do. They care about what they are doing tremendously."

"Nobody is going to make a writer of you. Writers are self-made."

"Shakespeare would have made a great reporter—perhaps not a go-getter, but a great feature writer. Indeed, he was a reporter, a gorgeous reporter. Why? Because he understood how to appeal to human nature."

"To write well—first enrich yourselves; then simplify yourselves."

17 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK.

Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—Seventeen persons were injured when Pennsylvania passenger train No. 801, en route from Columbus to Sandusky, O., was wrecked at Lewis Centre, near here, early today.

OAK PARK RISES AGAINST PLAN TO RENAME STREETS

Oak Parkers, at least 200 of them, are "sort of sot" in their ways. They believe the names of the streets upon which they have lived for years quite satisfactory. They resented the recent order of Charles E. White Jr. changing certain street names.

So the 200 held an indignation meeting in the village hall Wednesday night, and at its termination President George Pratt of the village board agreed that the old names should stand.

And this notwithstanding the fact that Commissioner White had purchased perfectly good street signs.

Fenger High Cadets to Receive Flags, Loving Cups

Cadets of the Fenger high school, 116th and State streets, who attended Camp Roosevelt last summer, will be honored today with a presentation of flags and loving cups by Capt. Frank Beals and Superintendent Peter A. Mortenson. The exercises will be held at 11 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

To National Advertisers:

The Lord & Thomas Agency of Chicago, one of the ablest Advertising Agencies in the world, has selected the Broadway Subway (B. R. T. system) as one of its advertising channels to present Pepsodent to the public during the next five years. This in spite of all the so-called "hard times."

Other large concerns who have never used the subway or street car advertising medium have come to appreciate the wonderful possibilities of advertising in the transit system, which runs down Broadway—the international highway, and then to all quarters of Brooklyn—the home borough of New York.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism, and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Rigg's Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's For the Gums cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

Brush Your Teeth With Forhan's—How to Use It

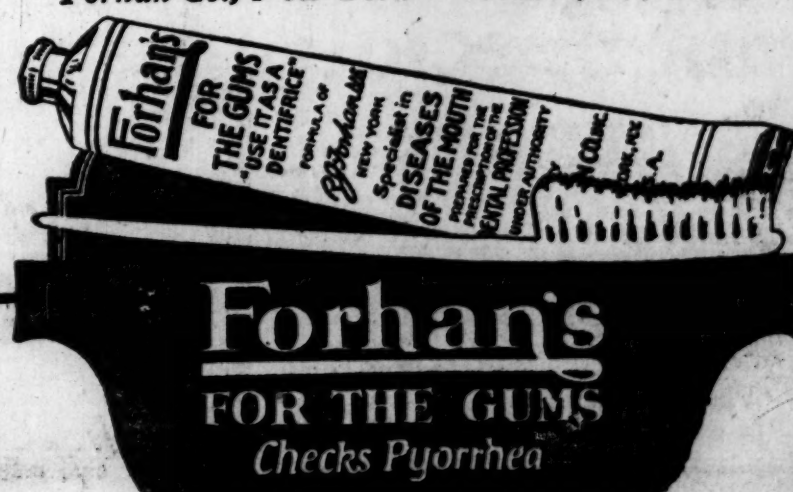

Use it twice daily, year in and year out. Wet your brush in cold water, place a half-inch of the refreshing, healing paste on it, then brush your teeth up and down. Use a rolling motion to clean the crevices. Brush the grinding and back surfaces of the teeth. Massage your gums with your Forhan-coated brush—gently at first until the gums harden, then more vigorously. If the gums are very tender, massage with the finger, instead of the brush. If gum shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

GEDEON PLACED ON OUTLAW LIST BY JUDGE LANDIS

BABE PUTS IT OVER

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Babe Ruth, billed as "The King of Swat," made his stage debut here tonight, assisted by Wellington Cross. A crowded house was on hand and the applause compelled Ruth to make a brief curtain speech. The chief outburst occurred when, after the Babe had received a stage telegram from Judge Landis and had been asked by Cross, "Is it serious?" Ruth answered, "Should say it is—25 cents collect."

An echo of the baseball scandal of 1919 was sounded last night by the placing on the ineligible list of Judge Gedeon, former infielder of the St. Louis Browns, by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball. The action of the commissioner came on the heels of a telegram from William McCarty, president of the Pacific Coast League, who wired Judge Landis, inquiring about the status of Gedeon, who was scheduled to participate in a game on the coast Nov. 11 in which a number of Coast League players were to take part. Mr. McCarty, desiring to protect his players, asked the judge for a ruling.

Released by Browns. Judge Landis sent a brief telegram to President Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns, shortly after he had appeared before the Cook county grand jury, and told his story about the alleged throwing of the world's series of 1919, by certain members of the Chicago White Sox.

Tells of Series Scandal. When the grand jury began its investigation of the world's series scandal, which resulted in indictments against several members of the Chicago club and a number of gamblers, Gedeon was one of the witnesses. He came here from Sacramento, Cal., at the request of B. B. Johnson, president of the league, and told his story.

Gedeon was not indicted by the grand jury. He was said to have told the jurors that he had information relating to the series. He also was said to have been present during discussions of the alleged conspiracy.

None of the indicted players who were later acquitted by a jury has made application to Judge Landis for reinstatement in organized baseball, and the action of the commissioner in placing Gedeon on the ineligible list is considered as setting a possible precedent for action if reinstatement is requested by them.

BENEFIT HELPS MATTY IN FIGHT

New York, Nov. 3.—Christy Mathewson, who several days ago received a $30,000 check, proceeds of the "Matty testimonial" baseball game at the Polo grounds Sept. 30, declared in a letter to New York friends today that the gift had given him new fighting powers. The former pitching star has been fighting tuberculosis at Saranac Lake. "Whenever little 'glooms' try to chase them away by thinking of my good and true friends, I am going to fight harder than ever to get well."

Mike Gibbons to Meet Ted Lewis in England

New York, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Mike Gibbons is about to sail for England, where he meets Ted Lewis for twenty rounds Nov. 17. In London boxing circles there is a great deal of excitement over this match. It promises to be a better drawing card than any fight held there since Carpenter fought Joe Beckett.

"Strangler" Lewis Flops Polk Two Straight Falls

New York, Nov. 3.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, tonight defeated Joe Polk, intercollegiate titleholder, in a two fall match. The first fall was gained after 4 minutes 40 seconds with a double wristlock and the second in 4 minutes 19 seconds with a double body hold.

ENGLISH, 19; RADCLIFFE, 0. Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 3.—The English women's field hockey team romped to a 19 to 0 victory over Radcliffe today, outscoring the college team at all times. The goalkeeping of Miss Ethel Clark of Brookline featured Radcliffe's playing and prevented a higher score.

GASOLINE ALLEY—IT ALWAYS IS, SAID THE ADJUSTER.

'OLD MAN' J. BRITTON WANTS LEONARD BOUT

New York, Nov. 3.—(United Press.)—Willie Breslin is becoming an "old man," and he knows it. The 36-year-old veteran who has been making the cities and tank towns from coast to coast for seven years as a professional boxer, says he is not so far ahead. "It's coming, I know. But before I get my prop knocked out I want to fight, and I don't know as it's necessary to look farther than Benny Leonard," the welterweight king said today. "There's a lot of talk going around that Leonard has been after me, but that's not the case. I have been after him."

Match About Made. "The match is just about made now for late in November. Fifteen rounds to a decision, sure!" The curly-haired Irishman, who, with Johnny Kilbane, is upholding the prestige and dignity of age in the ring, said he felt safe in his ability to beat the lightweight champion, because he is risking a title that is bringing him about $100,000 a year without much worry and with little work.

William F. Breslin was born in Clinton, N. Y., on Oct. 14, 1885. He started boxing professionally when he was 19 years of age, and he can't tell exactly how many battles he has engaged in during seventeen years of busy glove swinging. He's on the books for 259 bouts, but he is sure that he has had at least a hundred more than that.

Last Clash Three Years Ago. Britton has met Leonard twice in no decision bouts, and was able to hold his own. Their last meeting was in 1918. "I guess Leonard is better now than then, but I don't feel any worse, and maybe I'm some better," Britton says. "I'm getting along. Some of these days some youngster is going to get me of a sudden, and I'll be the champion."

HOREMANS WINS 2 CLOSE MATCHES

Playing with a new cloth on the table, Edouard Horemans did not keep up his fine average of the preceding blocks, falling to 26.10-15 in the afternoon block, against Yamada yesterday at Mussey's Madison street room. He won, 400 to 226, getting runs of 49, 85, 47, 132, and 60. Yamada started with 73, had runs of 35 and 36, and averaged 15-1-15.

The night game was something like a contest, as Yamada scored 344 points. His average was 38.9-9. He led the Belgian up to the last two innings, when the latter picked up 111, and after Yamada had made 67, Horemans went out with 85. His average was 44-4-9.

Hoppe Averages 100 in Match with Peterson

Detroit, Nov. 3.—Willie Hoppe averaged 100 for his two blocks at 18-2 balk line against Charles Peterson of St. Louis. He made five runs of over 100, his best being 193.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

In the Randolph street room Peterson defeated Clear, 27 to 15; Vodka defeated Bar, 20 to 16; Johnson defeated Clear, 53 to 25; and Broese defeated Boedeker, 25 to 10. In the Reister defeated Wilson, 40 to 38. In the three cushion journey at Bestmeyer's Washburn room, Wilson ran 41. Barrett won from Hoppe (60), 45 to 53. In Foley's pocket billiard event, Nease-Smith (75) and Delorme (60) play tonight.

ST. VIATORS PLAY DE PAUL.

The football game between St. Viators and De Paul will be played on the latter's gridiron tomorrow as scheduled. An effort was made to put it ahead one day so that Coach Haggerty of De Paul could officiate in the Chicago-Ohio State game tomorrow, but St. Viators refused.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

PESTINA AND THE "TRUST"

It is from it to become agitated over wrestling! But in refusing a match to Martin Pestina, so-called trust managers cite that he once confessed to faking a match. We always have supposed that was not uncommon in the mat game. They say his manager once served time at Leavenworth. We also had thought Leavenworth never entertained all to whom it seemed entitled.

Pestina has been challenging for years. His propaganda has convinced many, rightly or wrongly, that he can defeat all. The solution is obvious. If the "mat trust" champions can defeat Pestina they need not do so and get rid of what they term a nuisance. If they cannot they are not real champions. Excuses based on alleged past misdeeds of Pestina and his manager are not convincing in a sport whose ethics are under general suspicion by the public.

Fair Warning.

(Simmons college students vote $2,000 a year enough to marry on, and 63 of them don't object to women smoking—News Item.) To stick up for women's rights, they're far from men despisers, that is clear. For their years for mates so badly that they vote to take them from men despisers, that is clear.

Just to let you know that we are still "Fighting Illini." Illini, 24. If there's anything in a name, would it not intrigue you slightly at least to have forced on your attention the names of Leatherman and Proudfoot of the Maroons. Dem-Johnson.

Starting Something.

If you're wanting for misery in its worst stage, just take your girl to the game. Like a state's attorney she'll question you, And almost drive you insane. Most males will agree with the line above. For they know what's been said is true, and the fair sex, no doubt, think so, too. So, ladies, let's hear from you. W. J. C.

To Any and All Friends.

MOORE AND PURYEAR SWAP SPEED TONIGHT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are: At Mussey, Ind.—Frankie Mason knocked out Bobby Moss (4). At Calverton, Tex.—Sallie Owensby knocked out Red Dolan (3). At Fargo, N. D.—Mark Moore and Leo Stokes, draw (10).

Pal Moore, local bantamweight who is seeking a match with Johnny Buff, king of the 118 pounders, and Earl Puryear of Peoria, will meet in the features of the boxing show to be conducted by the Naval post at the American Legion aboard the U. S. S. Commodore tonight.

Both fighters have trained industriously at the Arcade. They have met on three former occasions. Moore has two decisions over his opponent, while the other contest was declared a draw. Neither fighter is considered a hard puncher and for this reason speed and cleverness will be depended upon by each man to win the popular decision.

As Moore has contents pending with some of the leading bantamweights in the game, he will not take any chances with his opponent. He intends to go out from the first tap of the bell and win every round if possible. The fighters have agreed to make 119 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The main event will be supported by three six round contests, the first of which will start at 8:15 o'clock.

WOODS AND WATERS BOB BECKER

A BARN OWL'S DINNER.

FOR many years owls have been persecuted by man and hundreds of these birds are killed annually upon the assumption that they are injurious. But it is an unjust persecution, as the owl family is, as a whole, beneficial because these birds feed on a great variety of rodents.

One of the interesting members of this night prowling family is the barn owl. This fellow is not very big, never exceeding twenty inches in length, but he has a most peculiar appearance because of a continuous and conspicuous ruff that has resulted in the nickname "monkey face."

The barn owl is extremely fond of church towers, belfries, or old buildings for nesting or roosting, and they are so strictly nocturnal that often several will be in a town and their presence unknown unless the nesting place is discovered.

"Monkey face" is death on mice and rats, and the number that a pair of these owls will kill during a year is truly astonishing. In Washington recently the biological survey determined what 675 of these barn owls had to eat for their dinner. It was some "game" dinner, as the following menu will indicate:

Meadow mice, 1,119; house mice, 452; house rats, 134; other small mammals, 3 per owl. Not much question about the barn owl being a beneficial bird after looking over that menu.

LOUIS TELLIER, GOLFER, SUICIDE

Newton, Mass., Nov. 3.—The body of Louis Tellier, Massachusetts open golf champion, was found today hanging by a rope in a shelter of the Brae Burn Country club course. The medical examiner and police said death was due to suicide.

The motive was not known, but the fact that Tellier had not been well for some time was advanced by friends as a possible explanation.

NAME NAYLOR FOR HEAD OF DISTRICT GOLF OFFICIALS

BY JOE DAVIS. Headed by Norman C. Naylor of Westmoreland, the nominating committee of the Chicago District Golf association, has named an exceptionally strong ticket to be voted on at the annual meeting, Dec. 6.

Mr. Naylor's efficient administration this year won him a nomination, and, should an opposition ticket be not likely, he will be able to continue the policies he inaugurated.

Paul C. Loeber, the retiring president of the Edgewater club, who did excellent work in that capacity, and who has been active in promoting golf in the Forest Preserves, has been named for vice president, succeeding Walter W. Ross.

Treasurer Wolf Renamed. Morris Wolf of Lake Shore, who has been an efficient treasurer for several years, has been named to continue in that office. Secretary E. T. Shohl will retire, J. G. Davis being named to fill the vacancy.

The executive committee, composed of four players from each of the three sections, has been filled with men who have wide experience in club matters. Seven of them have been club presidents, while others are well posted in tournament matters and ground keeping.

One of the important matters to be discussed at the annual meeting will be the establishment of a uniform system of handicapping.

Here is the ticket. Following is the ticket: For president, Norman C. Naylor; for vice president, Paul C. Loeber; for treasurer, Morris Wolf; for secretary, Joseph G. Davis; executive committee, district south, C. F. Thompson, E. H. Hankard, E. R. Gobie, Y. Foster; district west, E. L. Harris, B. Vastine, R. W. Childs, C. L. Garnett; district north, R. A. Gardner, A. McCall, R. H. Ripley, C. C. Hopkins.

THE GUMPS—THOSE EYES—THOSE LIPS—THOSE NOSE!

ONE OF WILCE'S "GO-GETTERS"

Johnny Stuart, Ohio State back, who may provide plenty of work for the Maroons in tomorrow's grid battle on Stagg field.

OHIO HERE TODAY FOR DRILL ON STAGG FIELD

Jack Wilce and his Ohio State Buckeyes, champions of the conference in 1930, are due to arrive this morning in preparation for the game with the Maroons. The Buckeyes will take their final work-out today on the stadium gridiron, while the Maroons are working on the practice field back of the stands.

The Buckeyes form one of the most seasoned teams ever entered in a Big Ten conference race. Nine of the eleven men expected to start tomorrow were regulars on the 1930 championship team, and most of these men are seniors who have played alongside each other for three years.

Forward Wall of Regulars. Capt. Myers and Slyker have guarded the Buckeye wings for three years. Similarly schooled at their berths are Huffman, last year's captain, and Spillers, the tackle. Pixley has a dislocated jaw but will be in against the Maroons and Jackson, a substitute tackle for Huffman, has a badly cut eye, which may cause the loss of sight. The Buckeyes today had a slight scrimmage with the Maroon eleven, who made several gains with Maroon formations.

The Maroon team also boasts a veteran front, but not quite as long in Big Ten experience as the Buckeyes. The three great Chicago ends, Crisler, Halladay, and Strickmeyer, are veterans. Crisler, McDuffie, tackle, and Redmon and Lewis, guards, played last year. In the back field Timme and Cole are experienced men, but most of the other players in Stagg's tripartite of backs are in their first year of conference football.

Hurlburt and Pyott Halves. John Hurlburt, Chicago's right half, is hopelessly lost for tomorrow's game. He was operated on yesterday to relieve an infection in his leg. There is hope that he will be able to play at Illinois next week. Hurlburt, who has been ailing since the Princeton game, probably will take his place, with the speedy but inexperienced Pyott in reserve.

Parking Space for Autos at Cardinal-Hammond Game. Manager Chris O'Brien of the Chicago Cardinals is planning special accommodations for motorists who come to Normal Park Sunday by automobile to witness the Cardinal-Hammond game. Chris has leased an open plot across the street from the playing field and it will be turned over for parking space.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

MICHIGAN. ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—With all the regulars out for practice except Ted Bank, Coach Yost got down to real work this afternoon in preparation for the Badgers. Usher, Kipke, Neisch, Wieman, Roby, and Kirk have been cheering from the hospital list, and for the first time this season Trainers Archie Hahn and Billy Fallon are taking a much needed rest.

Coach Yost is drilling his men in fundamentals this week and expects to polish up both the attack and defense. Steteket, Dean, and Kipke were put through a long punting drill this afternoon and the forward pass came in for considerable attention in a long signal drill.

WISCONSIN. Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The Badgers are developing an airtight defense for Michigan formations and are working on offensive plays which will rip up the Michigan line of the work in scrimmage is any indication. The Wisconsin all-Americans have learned all that scouts can tell them about Wolverine style and were able to work havoc with the varsity's defense, but in the last scrimmage could do little to pierce the regular line. Coach Richards is trying new formations for his passing game which promise to be successful and likely will be for the rest of the year.

OHIO. Columbus, O., Nov. 3.—[Special.]—Injuries are rapidly weakening the Ohio State squad. With Honaker, who broke a collar bone yesterday, out of the Chicago game, three other regulars were forced to remain on the side line today. Galt, half back and quarter back, has a twisted ankle. Pixley has a dislocated jaw but will be in against the Maroons and Jackson, a substitute tackle for Huffman, has a badly cut eye, which may cause the loss of sight. The Buckeyes today had a slight scrimmage with the Maroon eleven, who made several gains with Maroon formations.

BRITISH FENCERS COME WITHOUT EPEE CHAMPION

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) [Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.] LONDON, Nov. 3.—The British fencing team, which leaves for America Saturday to meet the team of the Amateur Fencing League of America, was given a farewell dinner by the London Sports club tonight. Maj. Huntington, the present British "epee" champion, was not able to make the trip, as he has been ordered to rejoin his regiment in Ireland. The team had a satisfactory last trial match tonight with foil, epee, and saber.

Wellesley Seniors Win in Annual Crew Competition

Wellesley, Mass., Nov. 3.—Wellesley college seniors triumphed over the other classes in the annual crew competition on Lake Waban today. Their score was 88. The sophomores were second with 86, the juniors third with 74, and the second freshmen crew fifth with 62. Points were allotted on a basis of 75 per cent for form and skill in handling the blades and 25 per cent for speed.

SQUAD OF 30 PURPLE OFF TO PURDUE TODAY

Northwestern's football squad, thirty strong, leaves Chicago at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon for Lafayette, where it will battle the Boilermakers tomorrow in Purdue's annual homecoming game. Several hundred rooters will leave at 8:30 tomorrow morning on a special train.

Purdue will be in for something of a surprise if Coach McDewitt of the Purple squad has not developed a defense against a passing game. James Patterson, a passing game, finished a week of preparation on an aerial attack. Palmer and Patterson are accurate passers and Ewing and Coach McDewitt have been trained to pick the tosses out of the air.

Henry Penfield's educated toe has been working out daily and it is probable he will be called on early in the game to attempt to drop kick. His brother, Graham Penfield, last year's captain, will be the only Purple regular out of the lineup. His injured ankle has not fully recovered.

McMillin, half back, has been shifted to an end position in practice, and it is thought he will start the game on the left wing, with Grausnick and Palmer at the half back berths, and Patterson at full. Blumenthal will start at the pilot's place.

Paddy White with Thorns in Booster Game Sunday

"Paddy" White, formerly of the Logan Square eleven, will be with the Thorns-Tornadoes when that team meets the Chicago Boosters Sunday at Logan Square. White will play one of the halves for the T. N. T. eleven. J. Bush and L. Bush, brothers, who attracted a lot of attention by their work last season, are reported stronger than ever. One will play end and the other full back for the Thorns-Tornadoes. The game will start at 2 p. m.

Stays to Try Shifts Against Amos Eleven

Rooters who flock to Pyott park Sunday to view the clash between the Stays-Forsters and the Amos A. A. elevens will be treated to some new Stays formations, patterned after the famous Minnesota shift. The Amos A. A. also features an open offensive. Several old favorites of the Harrison High school will appear in the Amos lineup.

SHANER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF U.S. TRAP SHOOT BODY

New York, Nov. 3.—The board of directors of the American Trap Shooting association today elected the following officials: President, Elmer E. Shaner, 3115 Broadway, New York; vice president, Thomas A. Marshall, Chicago; treasurer, T. A. Davis, New York; secretary, S. McLean, the last for a period of three years.

The executive committee, consisting of F. G. Elmer Shaner, Drew, New Ha. (Tribune Photo.); J. H. Keller, New York; C. W. Hyman, Wilmington; J. L. Clark, New York; and E. R. Galvin, Wilmington, was re-elected.

Other business included revision of bylaws giving amateurs representation in the association and provision for the formation of a committee of five representing the five zones of the association to meet with the executive committee in New York Dec. 1-2 to prepare regulations governing tournaments during the season of 1932.

At this meeting it is probable that the place of the Grand American handicap will be announced. Invitations are expected from Chicago, Atlantic City, Indianapolis, Des Moines, and Cleveland.

"Bo" McMillin's Fiancee to See Centre Grid Tills

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 3.—Miss Marie Miers arrived here today from Fort Worth, Tex., and, after meeting "Bo" McMillin, famous football player of Centre college, Danville, Ky., boarded another train with him for Danville. Miss Miers frankly said she was engaged to be married to McMillin, but five representing the five zones of the association to meet with the executive committee in New York Dec. 1-2 to prepare regulations governing tournaments during the season of 1932.

At this meeting it is probable that the place of the Grand American handicap will be announced. Invitations are expected from Chicago, Atlantic City, Indianapolis, Des Moines, and Cleveland.

Staleys to Use Open Game Against Tigers Sunday

Detroit comes to Cub park Sunday with a reputation for hard tackling. The Tigers have a heavy, powerful set of end and tackles, who smash up an interference and nail the runner fiercely. To meet this type of a game, Coach George Halas has been running the Staleys more along the open, forward passing game this week than the old fashioned battering method. Ticket for Sunday's game, which starts at 2 o'clock, are on sale at the Thomas E. Wilson company, Wabash avenue and Monroe street.

SOCCER NOTES.

The Alverno and Harvey teams, which played a draw game in their first meeting in the national soccer cup series, and could not play again last Sunday because of wet grounds, will meet Sunday afternoon at 10:15 street and 47th avenue at 2:30. The Johnson City, Ill., team will come to River View park to tackle the Swedish-Americans.

The Olympia team will meet the Bricklayers at 35th street and Westworth avenue, and the Gary team will travel to Kenosha to play the Simmons club.

In a past cup game Sunday Sparta Union, 1 will meet Sparta Union 3 at 62d avenue and 19th street at 2:45. Sparta Union 11 will play Victoria 1 on the same field at 1:45.

Other football cup games are Hungarian 1 at Hungarian 11, Norwegian 11 at Jugo-Slavia, Corinthians and Y. M. H. A. at Douglas park, Vikings at Roseland, Alverno Maroons at St. George's, Ulster United at Norwegian 1.

ST. MEL AND ST. RITA IN TIE.

St. Mel and St. Rita lightweight elevens battled to a scoreless tie on the latter's field yesterday in a Catholic league game. Kelly, right half back for St. Mel, featured with some clever end runs.

MADE LEAGUES GIVEN O. K. BY FEDERAL COURT

Talking of Prices Isn't Fixing It, Judge Decides.

BY PARKE BROWN.
Judge George A. Carpenter of the United States District court yesterday decided the "linseed oil case" for the benefit of equity.

This suit, filed on July 1, 1920, was brought against thirteen manufacturers of linseed oil, and two associations organized for the exchange of information between men and companies in the same business, the decision is considered of great importance. There are many associations in the country, and the government's position brought widespread protests against governmental interference with legiti-mate business.

Logic which assumes that because there is an opportunity to fix prices, therefore prices are fixed, is contrary to the genius and theory of our law.
Every man is presumed to be innocent until he is proved to be guilty.
The Armstrong bureau is to be dismissed merely because it afforded an opportunity for the members to fix prices, then this court, with equal propriety, could be asked to dissolve any club where business men meet.
The theory hardly warrants dismissal.

Bridal Fashions

MISS LILLIAN BREMS.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

LAST night was "brides' night" at the North Side exposition, and the Broadway armory was decorated as if for a wedding. Among the patrons were many brides looking over the many exhibits of attractive and useful objects. Miss Lillian Brems, attired in the latest fashion for brides, could have found in the crowds a dozen men willing to become a bridegroom right then and there.

MY LADY'S EYES YIELD TO CHICAGO AS POETS' THEME

Apes Also Inspire Contest Verse.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
Buy early and avoid the rush in help contest the heights of Mount Parnassus submitted more than 200 poems to the Chicago Woman's club poetry contest which closed yesterday.
Bridal professors, young grandmothers and old flappers, university students, a few "home girls," professional writers, "brows," and a 12 year old Sappho from downstate—they have all done their bit toward making Chicago the Athens, at least, of the adjacent suburbs.

Chicago Burden of Their Songs.
See Chicago first, in song and story, is the recurrent theme of many of the poems submitted. For the homekeeping youths of our village there is the following apostrophe to our Mayor's city by the tracks:
"Chicago is the place they sent me—
The great today will be the greater tomorrow.
The Pageant of Progress has boosted her high."
Local color is also to be found in large daisies like verses penned "To Lorado Taft's Figure of Time" or in those typed "To the Edgewater Beach Hotel" and "To a Photograph in a Showcase on Chicago Avenue." Less local but more colorful is the one entitled "A Gray Day at the Sand-Dunes."

Some Zoological Verse.
Going from the sublime to the zoological, we have the confessional
"I Sing the Elephant" and the rhyme to an "Ape." Other "animals" featured in lambic pentameter are robins, moths, and a scurrier tanager or two.
Miss Katherine A. Jones, chairman of the contests, announces the awards
—a first prize of $50, a second of $25, a third of $15, and a fourth of $10—will be made Dec. 1. The judges are:
Mrs. William Vaughn Moody, Mrs. Lee Sturgis, Theodore Hinkley, editor of the Drama, and Richard Atwater.

ACOSTA BREAKS 150 MILE RECORD IN OMAHA FLIGHT

Col. Hartney Is Injured in Crash to Earth.

SPEED KINGS

	Miles per hour.
Acosta	176
Coombs	170
McReady	160
Bertaad	140

BY MORROW KRUM.
Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3.—[Special.]— Smashing all speed records over a closed course, Albert Acosta, flying a Curtis monoplane, and one of the flyers here this afternoon, won the second annual race for the Pulitzer trophy
by flying here this afternoon,
No human has ever
traveled so fast for 150 miles—five times around a thirty mile course.
Official time, 52
minutes 2.2 seconds.

HARRY EISE.

The announcement of Acosta's record came as the 50,000 persons assembled to watch the flying meet had been silenced by the news that Lieut.
Col. H. E. Hartney had crashed in his Thomas-Morse monoplane and that Harry Eise, veteran parachute jumper, had been drowned when he landed in the Missouri river following a 2,000 foot drop.

Col. Hartney, executive secretary of the Aero Club of America, just above the broad bosom of the Solent. Some way down his motor boat was tied up to a rotting landing stage which apparently was the uncharted property of nobody in particular. Andrew had a brand new boat to replace the old dinghy. It was a gift from young Lord Westhaven.

Except for this clump of trees, against one of which he leaned as he meditated, the immediate landscape was flat and somewhat barren. A deserted wooden shanty, blown sideways by sales, teetered precariously above the remains of the landing stage, and up the river as far as eye could reach rusted the gray hulks of high powered navy launches, hundreds and hundreds of them roped together, waiting for heaven knows what, since the war and their day was over.

Behind the shanty ran a path leading ultimately to the Rockport highroad, and Andrew Crouch's attention was fixed in that direction. He waited nearly half an hour before being rewarded. Then suddenly his eyes brightened, he knocked out his pipe, stepped away from the shelter of the trees, and waved his handkerchief.

Two cyclists were arriving single file along the path,
and they responded to his signal.
It is scarcely necessary to state that the cyclists were Ted and Crystal, and that this was the trusty they had kept nearly every day since Crystal and Andrew discovered their love for each other.

Ted had insisted upon playing gooseberry. Although he gave his sanction to the proposed match, which was scarcely likely to be received with rousing cheers in other quarters, he felt it incumbent upon himself to acquire Crystal to the secret place where Andrew and she could meet and talk it all over.

Sometimes he considerably left them alone for a little while and amused himself exploring the rusting launches, but he was always within easy hail when Crystal's slip and give the whole show away.
I know it will I'm always having
to catch myself up.

Andrew threw back his shoulders.
"Do you know what I'm going to
do this evening?"
"You're not!" Crystal exclaimed,
clutching his arm in a frenzy.
"They'll part us. They'll keep me
a prisoner, take me away or something. I know Uncle Martin.
He'll."

"He's got to know some time,"
said Ted.
"Yes, and the sooner he does know the quicker that part of it will be over. I'm going to see him
this evening, and just as I am, too."
He glanced down at himself, trying
to visualize how the rough blue trousers and jersey would add to Mr. Martin Drake's poor opinion of
him. "After all, I am a workman,
and it's foolish to pretend anything
else."

"It's getting late," said Ted. "I think I'll just stroll down and see how that new tub of yours is shaping up, Andrew, and then Crystal and I must be off."

camp out on the river somewhere, and I'd come and live with you. O, it'd be glorious! But, no—we can't do anything—anything at all. Andrew can't even come to West Court. I shall run away, I think. She let the Bitter Pill come often enough. O, yes, I know he's dead, Crystal, and I'm sorry. But it's a fact he practically lived at West Court."

Andrew and Crystal sat side by side on the grass listening gloomily to this tirade. They were all three just children, Andrew no less so in some respects than the other two. He couldn't help loving Crystal and wanting to be with her, any more than he could help the disappointment of not being wanted at West Court by the mistress of the house.

It had been such a beautiful plan of Ted's, that Andrew should come for two weeks and let Lady Westhaven and Mr. Drake discover his many excellent qualities, when doubtless the scales of prejudice would have fallen from their eyes, and a consent to his union with Crystal be immediately forthcoming. That was how they had planned it, and now the scheme was doomed to destruction in the egg, so to speak. Like many other beautiful things, it would never hatch.

"You'd better just stop," said Ted when the gloom of the silence had borne them all down. "I'll give you away, Crystal. The worst of it is, you'd have to put up the banner, 'Andrew Crouch and Crystal Marwood, both of this parish.' O, I say, church would be fun that morning, only I shouldn't be able to get a proper look at mother's and Mr. Drake's faces."

"I had thought of that," said Andrew. "We—that is,
I know it's wrong, I haven't any business to be meeting Crystal like this."

Crystal slipped her arm through his.
"You're going to be my husband," she said with delicious candor. "Don't forget that, Andrew."

"Of course you've got a right to see her," Ted agreed. "Nobody has a better one. Only it's telling on me. One of these days my tongue'll slip and give the whole show away.
I know it will I'm always having
to catch myself up."

Andrew threw back his shoulders.
"Do you know what I'm going to
do this evening?"
"You're not!" Crystal exclaimed,
clutching his arm in a frenzy.
"They'll part us. They'll keep me
a prisoner, take me away or something. I know Uncle Martin.
He'll."

"He's got to know some time,"
said Ted.
"Yes, and the sooner he does
know the quicker that part of it will be over. I'm going to see him
this evening, and just as I am, too."
He glanced down at himself, trying
to visualize how the rough blue
trousers and jersey would add to
Mr. Martin Drake's poor opinion of
him. "After all, I am a workman,
and it's foolish to pretend anything
else."

"It's getting late," said Ted. "I think I'll just stroll down and see how that new tub of yours is shaping up, Andrew, and
then Crystal and I must be off."

PUBLIC APOLOGY BY FITZMORRIS, CROWE'S DEMAND

Mayor Can't Make Peace
on Any Other Terms.

"No living person, not even a member of my own family, can make peace in this matter on terms other than those I have outlined," stated Attorney Robert E. Crowe declared last night in a formal ultimatum which was so sweeping that it included even Mayor Thompson, who on Wednesday announced he would assume the role of peacemaker between Mr. Crowe and Chief Fitzmorris.

"These terms are that Chief Fitzmorris rescind his idiotic orders affecting Sergt. O'Malley of my office and make a public apology over his own signature for his insinuations against my integrity contained in his statement," the ultimatum concluded.

Crowe to Renew Demand.
Mr. Crowe refused to amplify his statement, but on good authority his policy may be said to be:
He will wait a reasonable time—probably until tomorrow—before he renews his demand for a public apology from Mayor Thompson, who on Wednesday announced he would assume the role of peacemaker between Mr. Crowe and Chief Fitzmorris.

If no reply is received from the mayor Mr. Crowe will dispatch another letter to him by special delivery demanding that he make his position clear in the matter. The messenger will have orders to wait for an answer.
The mayor received the letter Tuesday night.

Cause of Apology Demand.
The assertions of the chief for which Mr. Crowe demands an apology were contained in a statement issued Sunday night, which contained the following:
"I am sorry that most of the raids conducted by the state's attorney's office have not been followed by prosecution and conviction. In fact, most of the cases have been stricken off the roll. I do not intend countenancing the use of these policemen for ulterior motives."

Mayor Thompson did not appear at his office in the city hall yesterday.
Politicians stood about in groups waiting for him to arrive. Several of his closest friends said he had not receded from the position he took Wednesday when he declared Fitzmorris to be "the greatest chief of police in America."

The remark was made forty-eight hours after the chief had given out his statement questioning the state's attorney's motives in making gambling raids.

Chief Refuses to Talk.
Chief Fitzmorris continued his clam-orous silence yesterday. When shown Mr. Crowe's ultimatum he said, "Have a cigar." Questions brought further offers of cigars, but nothing else.

In the morning the chief cleared his desk of police business and then read a chapter of Montaigne's essays entitled "The Profit of One Man is the Damage of Another."

The great essayist packed the chapter in question with bits of wisdom, many of them in proverb form. Among those which the chief seemed to enjoy were:

"There are some defeats more triumphant than victories."
"The public well requires that men should betray, lie, and massacre."
"He who is not a governor must never take upon himself the trade of lying."

State's Attorney Crowe was asked if he had any remarks to make concerning the quotations.
"I think it would be more profitable for the chief if he read the criminal code instead of Montaigne," he replied.
"Particularly those sections which relate to open gambling, open prostitution, and open vice."

$240,000 SOLD IN ADVANCE OPERA
SUBSCRIPTIONS

With more than $240,000 sold in advance subscriptions, the Chicago Opera company will close its reservation list today at noon.
Among the list are 2,500 "new names" and the subscription is said to be $60,000 in excess of any in the company's history. Rosa Raisa, Muratores, and his wife, Lina Cavalieri, will arrive today, it is announced. Among those who arrived yesterday or will arrive this week are Eleanor Terry, Edna James, Acte, Octave Dux, Desire De-frere, Claire Dux, and Tino Pattiera.

FARM AND GARDEN

LESS HONEY IS NEEDED FOR BEES WINTERED IN CELLAR.

Problems confronting the beekeeper who winters his bees in a cellar are somewhat different from those where the hives are protected outdoors. In the first place much less honey will be needed to keep the bees alive where they are kept in a cellar that is properly ventilated. Half as much honey as is left in hives stored in the open will be sufficient.
Bees starve to death less frequently where they are stored in cellars. While almost any kind of cellar would protect the bees and keep them from freezing to death in this section, they will need some honey in the spring.
out in a strong condition in the spring.
No matter how good the cellar may be it must be carefully looked after.
Bees must be protected from both cold and dampness, and fresh air must be provided. This helps to keep the cellar dry and in a healthful condition. A slight amount of moisture, however, is needed.
Old time beekeepers work hard from the time cold weather sets in until the air warms up in the spring to keep the temperature in the cellar at about 45 degrees Fahrenheit.
Absolute darkness in the cellar is essential for best results. It is usually safe to leave the bees outdoors until the last of November.

WHEAT DROPS TO 99CENTS; OTHER GRAINS FOLLOW

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Drastic liquidation was on in the grain markets and with the exception of May corn all grains sold at the lowest figures on the crop and in recent years. December wheat dropped to 99c, the lowest since October, 1915, and closed at 99c, a net loss of 2 1/2c, while May was off 5c. Corn closed 1 1/4c, 1 1/2c lower with December leading, while oats were 1/2c lower and rye 3/4c, 1/2c lower.

Local traders were a little more friendly to the buying side of wheat early, when the highest prices of the year were made, but later free selling of December by a house with eastern connections, that has been heavily long of late, turned the market weak. The northwest sold freely, and numerous spot loss orders were uncovered on the way down. Rallies were short lived and there was some selling of December and buying of May at difference.

The greater part of the day's developments were of a bearish character, a bank failure in Oklahoma and one in Minnesota, combined with the lack of a sustained effort, being a factor which helped to lower prices. The reduction in the federal reserve discount rate.

December corn sold heavily by the leading local interest, and also by corn lower since December, 1910, closing at 1 1/4c, 1/2c lower, while May was off 5c, 1/2c lower, while oats were 1/2c lower and rye 3/4c, 1/2c lower.

Cash houses were good sellers of December and buyers of May at 1/4c difference. The weakness in other deliveries declined to a new low on the May 1914 at the last.

Liquidation by houses with seaboard connections was on in rye, and that grain declined faster than wheat, and that grain some buying of May and selling of December at 1/4c difference by a local cash house. No export sales were reported.

Provisions Held Firm. The break in grains and lower prices for hogs at the fall materially affected provision prices. The price of pork was unchanged to 2 1/2c higher. Trade was not large, with packers doing little. Cash business was only fair, with 60,000 lbs loose sold at 9 1/4c. Prices follow:
